New Ferry Now Upon Drafting Boards; Will Be Assembled Here

Hundred and Forty Feet Long and Forty-three Feet Wide Model Has Been Made—Will be Assembled on Canadian National Lakeshore Property

Being Constructed at Vancouver Plant

THE new ferry to replace M.S. Holdup on the run across Okanagan Lake between Kelowna and Westbank, is now taking shape in the plant of the Western Bridge Company in Vancouver. The Courier was informed on Monday by the company which was awarded the contract for the new ferry by the provincial government. The new craft will be one hundred and forty feet long and forty-three feet wide. It will accommodate thirty vehicles and a large number of passengers.

According to information obtained by the Courier from the construction company the ferry is now taking shape upon the drafting boards and in the shop.

As the illustration in another column of this issue indicates, there is used a small-scale replica of a mould loft floor, on which, to a scale of two inches to the foot, details of the vessel are worked out and then transferred to blueprints under the supervision of the company's chief draughtsman, R. Nyden.

The actual fabrication of steel will of course be made at the coast. A separate drawing is necessary for every single part and from these drawings "templates" are made of wood to be used as guides for the markings of the metal parts. From the drawings, also, duplicate parts or a duplicate ferry can be made and assembled with every assurance of a perfect fit.

The vessel will be assembled at the company's plant on False Creek at First Avenue and Columbia Street, Vancouver. After inspection there, it will be taken down and shipped by rail to Kelowna. When it reaches this city it will be reassembled here ready for launching when completed. The company has made arrangements for use of Canadian National Lakeshore property during the assembling here.

VALLEY BOARDS OF TRADE TURN DOWN QUEENS

W. Lloyd Craig's Idea to Send Queens to San Francisco Fair Not Favored by Gathering

"UNECONOMICAL" NOW

Bringing Tourists Over Present Roads Would Kill Any Advantage Gained is Decision

Not a single voice was raised at the well-attended meeting of Okanagan Valley boards of trade in Kelowna on Friday night in favor of the proposal of W. Lloyd Craig, director of tourist development in Victoria under the department of trade and industry, to send a number of queens and princesses from the Okanagan Valley to San Francisco's World Fair in 1939.

In fact, the meeting was unanimous against such a proposal in consideration of the expense involved and also the poor condition of the main highway which runs through the valley. It had been Mr. Craig's personal plan that ten districts in B.C. would each send a queen and retinue at a cost of about $10,000. They would adorn the B.C. display at the World's Fair and would be properly attired in queenly gowns in contrast to the American bathing beauty methods.

Although the delegates agreed that from an advertising standpoint there would be some merit in the suggestion, yet they were still opposed to the plan as being uneconomical at the present time.

Must Get Good Roads

Harry Pout of Vernon summed up the situation concisely when he stated: "We should not be advertising the Okanagan Valley to bring tourists here until we get good roads." He expressed his opinion.

City Divided Into Ten Districts By New Courier Delivery Scheme

Consolidates Territory Covered by Each Boy—Should Ensure Faster Service

That a speedier and more efficient service might be given our subscribers, the paper routes of The Courier have recently been reorganized. Last week this led to some slight confusion in that the boys were for the most part on new routes.

Formerly, it was a case of every boy for himself. This meant that several boys were covering the entire city with some customers in the hospital district, some near the C.N.R. station, some near Vernon road. One boy, in fact had to go from the hospital to Manhattan Beach.

This system was obviously unsatisfactory as the boys were losing much time and energy covering the same

FIRST GLIMPSE OF NEW OKANAGAN LAKE FERRY

The above picture gives the first authentic impression Kelowna people have obtained of the appearance of the new ferry which will ply the lake between this city and Westbank, replacing the present M.S. Holdup. The craft is now taking shape on the drawing boards and in the shop of the Western Bridge Company in Vancouver. The above is a picture of a model of the craft which has been built by the engineer. See story on this page.

ALDERMEN PREPARE PETITION

On Wednesday a group of representatives of the various municipalities met in the Royal Anne and prepared a petition to be sent to Ottawa requesting that the Okanagan be included in the itinerary of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth when they visit Canada next summer. The municipalities' petition will be forwarded to Ottawa at the same time as those of the associated boards of trade of the Okanagan and the Kelowna Canadian Legion.

Hard Surfacing of Okanagan Highway Next Year Is Urgent Necessity Boards of Trade Say

Delegates to Kelowna Meeting Feel Entire Road from Osoyoos to Enderby Should be Completed in 1939—Defeat Resolution to Eliminate Toll on Fraser Canyon Highway

HARD surfacing of the Okanagan Valley from the border to Enderby is imperative in the interests of tourist development and inter-communication between centres, besides the commercial needs of fruit truckers, was the decision of the Okanagan boards of trade meeting at the Royal Anne hotel in Kelowna Friday night.

Disgraceful Condition

Special mention was made of the "disgraceful" condition of the Pentiction-Summerland road by both J. B. Spurrier, Kelowna, and Arthur Basham, Pentiction. The entire highway should be completed next year, especially in the face of the impending visit of Their Majesties. The Summerland road is more travelled than any other stretch in the Interior, Mr. Basham claimed, but a united front should be presented to have the entire highway completed.

This building of small patches of roadway should be discontinued, Sam Miller, Kelowna, considered, as the highway system is beyond the measures. If the Pentiction delegates think the Summerland road is disgraceful then he should drive over the Revelstoke-Sicamous link, which is on a par with the Kelowna-Rock Creek road, he stated.

That the entire route from Vancouver to Osoyoos must be put in first-class shape was Howard Galbraith's opinion. This Vernon board president stated that the route is well organized to have the Trans-Canada route completed. A meeting will be held in Vernon on December 2, he announced, with delegates from all points in this section of the Interior being invited to consider the road question.

H. Pout, Vernon, thought the resolution did not go far enough and wished to embrace all the route from Vancouver to Osoyoos. His amendment was later withdrawn when the original motion was extended to include Enderby instead of stopping at Armstrong.

George E. Brown, Kelowna, told of the delegation which awaited on Victoria.

GAME ACT CASES IN POLICE COURT

Two prosecutions under the Game act were brought before Magistrate T. F. McWilliams this week. Thomas Dunne was charged with being in possession of a deer carcass without a seal attached and was let off with suspended sentence. On November 19, Angus Thompson was charged with being in possession of a deer from which all evidence of sex had been removed. He was fined $10 and costs.

On the same day George McKenzie Jr. pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving more than thirty miles per hour in the city limits. He was found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

CHINESE GIRL WINS FIRST PRIZE IN CONTEST

Lin Lam Takes Top Money—Miss H. Jackson and Mrs. J. Cushing Also Win

First prize in the "Know your Okanagan products" competition sponsored last week by the Kelowna retail merchants bureau of the board of trade, was awarded to Lin Lam, a Chinese girl of this city. Lin Lam takes the first prize of $7.50 while the second prize of $5.00 goes to Miss Hazel Jackson and the third prize of $2.50 to Mrs. J. N. Cushing.

It is interesting to note that the first prize in the Okanagan contest and third prize in the B.C. Products contest were captured by Chinese girls. This would seem to indicate that many of this province's "foreign Canadians" have a wider and better knowledge of the country than many of the Canadians of Anglo-Saxon descent.

Entries in last week's contest came from this city and points as far distant as Peachland, indicating the unusual interest created by the unique method used by the merchants to draw attention to provincial and valley products.

Talked too Much

Drunken Man Wanted to See Pal in Jail—He Landed There, Too

Last Friday evening a man, whose name is given as Alec Watson, went to the B.C. police office in Pentiction. He asked to see Leonard Brookhart, that afternoon sentenced to a three-year term in the B.C. penitentiary. Officers informed him that he was drunk and could not be permitted to see the prisoner, and advised the man to go home. Watson remonstrated, and became abusive. Finally, he was given opportunity to see Brookhart, himself being arrested.

Appearing in court on Saturday morning, he was fined $25 and costs or 15 days' imprisonment. He is serving the term.

City Council Passes Zoning Bylaw Alderman Sutherland Approves But Casts Vote in Opposition

Alderman Maintains Property is not Sufficiently Protected—Alderman Pettigrew Gives Solicitor's Assurance That No Building may be Erected to the Detriment of Adjacent Property—McKay Says Bylaw is First Step in Right Direction

KELOWNA'S new zoning bylaw passed its third reading on Monday night and is now part of the bylaws governing the city. All members of the council supported the bylaw excepting Alderman Sutherland who, although stating that he approved of the bylaw, did not vote for it.

Alderman Sutherland in explanation of his stand stated that he was thoroughly sympathetic to the bylaw but felt that it did not protect the property holder to a great enough extent.

His remark provoked some discussion but the other council members were assured by Alderman Pettigrew, chairman of the committee which drew the bylaw, that the city solicitor had assured him that under section twenty-eight of the bylaw, every protection was given the property holder. The building inspector has the power to refuse to issue a building licence for any building which in his opinion will detrimentally affect the value of the adjacent property. If the prospective builder so chooses he may appeal to a board of appeal. This board is composed of one member appointed by the council, one member-in-council and the third by the other two. If the building inspector issues a permit to which the two adjacent property holders object on the grounds that the proposed building will lower the value of their property, then, they too

COAST OFFICIALS INSPECT HOSPITAL

Dr. A. K. Haywood, medical superintendent of the Vancouver general hospital and Henry Whittaker, government architect, inspected the Kelowna general hospital on Monday, November 21, along with members of the Kelowna hospital board. The hospital has been particularly crowded of late and has been running at 92 per cent capacity, it is stated. The safety mark should be 80 per cent.

Following the inspection, the coast visitors and board members assembled at the Royal Anne for a luncheon and general discussion of hospital accommodation.

Their Majesties to be Requested To Come to Okanagan Next Year By Two Separate Petitions

Board of Trade and Okanagan Municipal Association Will Both Request Royal Party to Visit Valley in Summer of 1939—Also Invite Premier Mackenzie King to Speak at Kelowna

TWO separate petitions with the same fundamental message will be forwarded from the Okanagan Valley to the Canadian government seeking inclusion of this famous orchard land in the itinerary of Their Majesties tour of Canada next year. Such was the decision reached at the joint meeting of Okanagan boards of trade in the Royal Anne hotel on Friday evening with representatives from Armstrong, Vernon, Kelowna, Westbank, Summerland, Pentiction and Oliver present.

Send Two Petitions

One petition will go forward from the Okanagan boards of trade as a whole, while the Okanagan Municipal association will push forward its next meeting at Peachland to be able to extend a united invitation from all the municipal and city councils of the Okanagan.

Speed is essential to the success of this effort, it was deemed, and R. P. MacLean stressed that the time element is an important factor and the sooner the petition is sent the better. He mentioned that The Courier editorially suggested six weeks ago that such a petition should be forwarded. Capt. H. P. Coombes, Vernon board of trade secretary, introduced the subject of Their Majesties' visit while Mayor Harry Bowman, Vernon, carried on and reviewed answers received from other Valley points to Vernon's suggestion that the Okanagan should make every effort to have Their Majesties see this bountiful Valley.

"If the King and Queen knew how anxious the people of the Okanagan were to have them come to the Valley they would certainly arrange their itinerary accordingly," commented Mayor Bowman.

Great Help to Canada

"This visit will be a great help to the people of Canada as a whole," declared Reeve Ned Bentley, Summerland. "I do not wish politics to enter into this matter, but I know that Canadians abroad were not proud of Canada because of her stand in the crisis. This visit will be a wonderful lever for a united Empire and the more visits they can make the better it will be for Canada and the Empire."

Two delegates from each board of trade present met at the close of the session and prepared the preliminary draft of the resolution.

Alex Steven, Summerland, stated that the Canadian Legion was being overlooked in this matter and the result of his remarks was the passing of a resolution seeking support, in the sending of the petitions, from other organizations.

Some time ago W. A. C. Bennett, Kelowna board president, while in the east interviewed Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and invited him on his next trip to come to Kelowna and address a combined meeting of Okanagan Valley boards of trade. The meeting on Friday endorsed this action by Mr. Bennett and requested that a formal invitation be extended from the boards of trade as a whole.

Mr. McGregor spent some days in this district in October conducting a preliminary investigation. He then returned to Kelowna to make his report and last week it was announced that he would return to continue and complete the investigation.

Grape and Tomato Growers Hardest Hit By New Trade Treaty

Hurried Review of Provisions in New Canada-United States Trade Treaty Shows That Some Commodities Are Singled Out Above Others for Really Hard Knock—Apples, Pears, Prunes, Plums and Peaches Have Same Dump Duty as Before

Application of Dates on Dump Duties Feared

ALTHOUGH the fruit industry will feel the reduction in Imperial preference of one-third per cent to some extent, the fruit and vegetable industry will suffer to a greater extent through the provisions of the Canada-United States agreement regarding entry of fruit and vegetables from the United States into Canada, it is revealed by a resume of the agreements hastily gathered together by F. A. Lewis, chairman of the tariff committee of the B.C.F.G.A., which reached Kelowna late Wednesday evening.

The Imperial preference cut from four shillings sixpence to three shillings seasonal will detract from the Old Country market as far as the Okanagan is concerned, but the provisions of the new United States treaty are more drastic. From a quick resume of the situation, drops in ad valorem and dump duties will affect cantaloupes, carrots, grapes, potatoes and tomatoes to a serious degree, while pears will suffer from the dates set for application of dump duty.

No Change in Apples

There is no change whatsoever in the ad valorem or dump duty on apples, the only commodity in the entire list of fruits and vegetables untouched by the duty revisions, which become effective on January 1.

As far as Kelowna is concerned, grapes will be affected more than any other single item, it is believed here as the ad valorem duty is cut from 1 1/4 cents per pound to one cent and the old dump duty of four-fifths cent is wiped out entirely. There are said to be a thousand acres of grapes in the Kelowna district, mostly planted and coming into bearing in the past few years with the protection gained from the 1932 Ottawa agreements.

The weight of the package is to be included in the weight for duty of grapes entering Canada from the United States to Canada, July to January inclusive, one cent per pound.

In the periods fixed when "add to invoice" value is fixed under the new treaty it is provided that the values so fixed shall not be maintained in force.

24-HOUR SERVICE AT OSOYOOS PORT OF ENTRY SOUGHT

Okanagan Boards of Trade Want All Night Service at Border on Year-Round Basis

ALEC TOUGH "ON SPOT"

Pentiction Board President Draws Retorts from Joe Spurrier on Value of U.S. Sportsmen to Valley

When Alec Tough, president of the Pentiction board of trade, gave his opinion that the United States visiting sportsmen do not leave much money in this Valley, he stirred up a hornet's nest at the Okanagan boards of trade session in Kelowna on Friday night at the Royal Anne hotel.

There was general laughter at the statement and all eyes turned on Joe Spurrier, leading Okanagan sportsman, whose never-ending vigil has been responsible, to a large degree, in persuading hundreds of fishermen and hunters from the neighboring country to the south to Kelowna and other Interior sports haunts.

It was not long before Mr. Tough was put in his place and informed in sterner order that the visiting United States sportsmen are not only a great asset for this Valley but they leave plenty of the necessary greenbacks in their trail.

Introduced by Oliver

The statement arose in discussion of a resolution from Oliver seeking support for a petition to Ottawa to have the port of entry at Osoyoos opened 24 hours daily. R. W. Smith, Oliver druggist and board of trade proxy there, introduced the subject and stated that he realizes fully some business would be lost to Oliver because of all-night service at the border, but he

Mayor and Three Aldermen Have Terms Expiring This Year

Jones, Gibb and Sutherland Are Undecided—Whillis Definitely Out—Three School Trustees Face Voters

Early in the season though it be, the city election pot is already beginning to boil. A public meeting of the ratepayers has been called for Tuesday, December 6th, when the members of the council and the school board will give an account of their stewardship during the past year.

This year Aldermen Gibb, Whillis and Sutherland all see their terms expire and they must make their decision as to whether or not they will allow their names to go before the electors.

Pressure of business interests has forced Alderman Whillis to refuse the pleading of a large number of electors that he stand for another term. This year he has served as chairman of the finance department and the many duties of this position have forced him to encroach upon the time which should be devoted to his own business and he has announced that he will not be in the field this year.

Alderman Gibb is at present in Vancouver and so on Wednesday The Courier was unable to contact him. Street rumor, however, has him both in and out of the field. It has been stated that he has decided to withdraw from public service but it is also reported that he has decided that he will throw his hat in the ring again.

Alderman George Sutherland, the "stormy petrel" of civic affairs during the past few months, told The Courier on Wednesday that he "did not wish to run." He amplified this statement by saying that at present he hardly expected to be in the field but that he did not definitely say that he would not. "It all depends upon develop-

Treaty Results

Although not exactly jubilant, the Okanagan sighed gently on Thursday evening and breathed deeply when first news of the new seasonal preference on Canadian apples entering the British market was announced. The Courier, by the way, was the first medium in Kelowna to receive news of the new rate of three shillings and also the length of the season in which this preference operates.

From August 16 to April 15, the preference rate against United States apples will be three shillings per English hundredweight of 112 pounds. This means that each Canadian box of apples enters the United Kingdom with a protection of 29 cents per box. In the other months, the rate of preference goes up to its former level of four shillings six pence, or 44 cents per box.

There is no doubt that in big crop years in the United States, large quantities of apples will be exported to Britain at such a price that the American apples will cut below the Canadian product despite the protection of 29 cents per box. But in normal years there will be no trouble on the British market. The Americans will be able to raise their prices one shilling, six pence, and thus pass a considerable saving along to the growers.

In making this agreement and lowering the preference, the United Kingdom showed a distinct preference to the Australian apple exporter. The Australian product starts arriving in the United Kingdom market in April and practically as soon as it arrives the preference will go back to its rating under the Ottawa agreements of 1932. The United Kingdom was faced with cutting into the preference of the Australian or Canadian grower, and the British government chose to take away part of the advantage of the Canadian grower because of the more binding agreement with Australia.

However, the industry is in agreement that no great amount of harm will accrue from the new preference. The reaction in Seattle has been to raise the prices on late winter varieties for export another ten cents per box, as the new rate is adopted on January 1. It is unlikely that the British market will be affected to any degree by the new agreement as the Americans have been shipping heavily to the continent and their shipments to the United Kingdom are expected to decrease rapidly for the balance of the season.

The real effect of the new agreement between the United Kingdom, United States and Canada will not be known until the result can be measured in a year of bumper production in the American fruit areas.

Importance of the export market has been built up during the last six years since the Ottawa agreements of 1932 and with the big increase in production. In 1930, when Committee of Direction figures were available, the Okanagan crop was about three and a half million boxes, of which about one million boxes were exported. But thirty per cent of the export did not go to Britain, but went to Egypt, New Zealand, Australia, South American and many countries on the continent, which have dropped out of sight entirely as far as export markets are concerned.

Back in 1930 the American domestic market was in excellent shape, and the quantity of exports was small. Since that time, production has strode ahead by leaps and bounds in the United States, big areas coming into bearing. With that increase came the droughts in the Dakotas and surrounding states, a section of the United States which had always consumed a big portion of the Pacific Northwest crop.

This set of circumstances forced the American producer to increase his exports heavily at the same time that Canada was looking to the United Kingdom market for disposal of its rapidly-increasing crop. The Americans had to combat the forty-four cent preference enjoyed by Canada under the Ottawa agreements and the export deal was not a profitable one for the Washington and Oregon growers. The British market was used by the latter as a dumping ground for surplus yields.

It is the hope of the Okanagan apple growers that the Americans will now make full use of the cut in preference and will raise their prices accordingly, instead of forcing the Canadian prices down to their level.

Back in 19330, the Okanagan exported only about 700,000 boxes of apples to the British Isles, but in 1937 the export figures had jumped to approximately 2,354,000 boxes, thus showing how much the Okanagan must depend on the Motherland for her livelihood and to relieve the strain on the domestic outlets.

Other factors enter into the present situation. Tremendous increases in citrus fruit production may be observed in the United States. It is only just being realized now that within a short time Texas will become a greater producer of citrus fruit than California. In 1935, when the Canada-United States treaty was revised, the free dates for entry of citrus fruits into Canada were increased to four months, January to April inclusive. Now another month has been added and the two countries must agree to either allow citrus fruits into Canada free in December or May. The Okanagan hopes that the decision will be in favor of the latter month.

It is also stated that another method may be adopted, giving six months free entry of citrus fruits into this country, from February to July inclusive. If this method is adopted then the dates will not clash to nearly the same extent with the Canadian apple marketing situation.

Okanagan growers cannot visualize any advantages to be gained by this section of the province under the new agreements, but they also believe that the campaign conducted by the B.C.F.G.A. throughout 1938 in an endeavor to save part of the Imperial preference and retention of dump duties against American importations on the domestic markets has been beneficial to a degree. At one time, grave fears were held that the entire preference would be wiped out. This calamity has not come to pass, and the Okanagan grower still has ample protection. However, growers of soft fruit are still keeping their fingers crossed until the whole situation is laid plainly before them. What changes may be made in the dump duty applications are still obscure. In the application of dates of dump duties lies the "nigger in the wood-pile," and Ottawa can either make or break the prairie markets for the Okanagan grower of stone fruit.

The dark clouds which have been hovering over the Okanagan have lifted somewhat but there is still some lightning lurking in those clouds and the density of the storm, although lightened to a degree, remains in the future to be measured.

An Investigation

Last week the fruit industry in the Okanagan entered a new stage when word was received from Ottawa that F. A. MacGregor, of the combines branch of the department of labor had left for this Valley to continue and complete an investigation into the fruit industry. The investigation follows the charges made by Godfrey Isaacs in Vernon last August. It will be Mr. MacGregor's second trip to the Valley in this connection. In October he came west for the express purpose of ascertaining for his own satisfaction whether or not there was sufficient justification for the Dominion government instituting a complete investigation. After spending several days here he visited the coast and prairie points and returned to Ottawa to make his report.

Advices from Ottawa last week indicated that Ottawa was not fully convinced that a combine working to the detriment of the growers exists. This stand is, of course, the only one the government could assume. There has as yet been only a preliminary inquiry; there has been no investigation and no trial. How then could the government take the stand that a combine detrimental to growers' interests exists?

Last week's advices from Ottawa also indicate that the government has changed its stand upon the question of a combine investigation. When the growers' application for an investigation was presented the department of labor retorted that it was not accompanied with sufficient evidence to warrant procedure under the combines act. This question of evidence delayed action for several weeks, the growers' committee taking the stand that it was unreasonable for the government to expect full evidence before an investigation was instituted. Now, however, despatches from Ottawa state that the minister of labor is of the opinion that a properly filed application for an investigation by the producer, is sufficient for the government to take action. This reversal of attitude follows the pointing out to the department that, following the Nash investigation, the then minister of labor stated in the house that, figuratively, the mere suspicion of the existence of a combine was sufficient excuse for the Liberal government to institute a full investigation.

Growers were naturally anxious that Lewis Duncan should be appointed commissioner to conduct any inquiry that might be instituted. Ottawa however has not seen fit to appoint him in the present instance. Ottawa doubtless has reasons which it considers entirely adequate for not appointing Duncan, but nevertheless, Okanagan growers are bitterly disappointed that he will not conduct the inquiry.

The investigation will be under the direction of Mr. MacGregor, who has conducted numerous combine inquiries during the period he has held his present official position. While comparatively unknown in the Okanagan, those with whom he came in contact during his recent visit here, are expressing themselves as being completely satisfied that he will prove a competent commissioner during the coming inquiry. They feel that the growers' interests are safe in his hands.

Last week's announcement that a complete investigation is to be undertaken ends many weeks of uncertainty. It is now known that the serious charges made last August by Mr. Isaacs in Vernon, will be either proved or disproved. At that time The Courier took the stand that an investigation was necessary to remove the cloud of suspicion and doubt which hung over the industry as a result of the charges. If the charges were justified, the growers had a right to know the conditions under which their fruit was being marketed; if there was no foundation to the charges, those accused had every right to be cleared and the growers shipping through those houses were entitled to know that they might have complete confidence in those organizations. The situation was one which could not be allowed to remain without some effort being made to clear it up. It was too serious for those charged; too important to the growers; too vital to the entire industry. The investigation now under way under Mr. MacGregor's direction should clear the matter up.

Valley Problems

On Friday of last week the associated boards of trade of the entire Valley met in Kelowna to discuss various items of business which are of interest, not only to each individual board, but to the entire Valley; items upon which it was felt a general Valley policy should be formulated. The various trade bodies from Armstrong to Oliver were represented and all contributed to the discussions.

The delegates showed little hesitation in agreeing that a petition to Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth to visit the Okanagan should be despatched with the greatest speed. A little divergence of opinion arose however as to whether the corporate municipal bodies and the trade bodies should join in one united petition or send separate ones. The majority of those present felt that two petitions might carry a little more weight than one and, accordingly, the two will be sent.

The Kelowna board had already made a tentative arrangement to have Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King address that body upon his next trip to the west and the Kelowna asked the associated boards to endorse its action. As it was proposed that Premier King would address a meeting of the joint boards, the resolution was endorsed without discussion.

A third item to command the attention of the delegates was the question of a twenty-four hour customs service at Osoyoos. The Oliver delegation pointed out that the present schedule of hours was a decided detriment to travel and that for three years the American customs had been ready to provide an adequate service when the Canadian government was ready to cooperate. Penticton was not in favor of the port being open longer hours but the remainder of the delegates felt that as Osoyoos was the second largest point of entry in the province, an adequate service should be given and voted accordingly.

A motion requesting the provincial government to keep the present ferry service at Kelowna running all winter and not reduce the schedule was passed unanimously. In this connection Kelowna presented some very interesting figures, pointing out that the Holdup was the only ferry in the province which made a profit.

The tourist department's suggestion that the Okanagan should spend some fifteen hundred dollars to send a "queen" and a party of attendants to the San Francisco fair was given short shift. Every delegation present expressed itself as opposed to the idea. The general expression of opinion was that there was little object in spending money to bring the tourists into the Okanagan until the main artery is put into a condition which will not bring adverse, instead of favorable, publicity.

The question of roads was threshed to the fullest extent but a resolution requesting the government to complete the paving of the Valley highway from Oliver to Enderby next season, was passed without a dissenting voice. The delegates were in agreement that this was perhaps the primary point of concern of the trade bodies throughout the entire Valley.

The meeting was definitely a success. Half a score Valley municipalities discussed problems of mutual interest. Throughout there was a spirit of co-operation and of give and take. More frequent round table discussions of this type would do much to weld the Valley into one harmonious whole.

Bernard Cleanup

Patience taxed to the breaking point by a long succession of Sundays with Bernard Avenue resembling something in the nature of a section of a city dump, the Junior Board of Trade on Sunday, tired of the inaction of the city fathers on the situation, took matters into its own hands and engaged a man to clean away on Sunday morning, the major portion of the rubbish and litter left by the Saturday night crowd.

On several occasions during the past six months, it has been pointed out in these columns that Bernard Avenue on Sunday resembled nothing as much as the Toronto Exhibition grounds after children's day. Pieces of newspapers, gum wrappers, chocolate bar wrappers, banana skins, apple cores, orange peelings, and a heterogeneous collection of other litter lay in wait for the unwary Sunday pedestrian. More than one pillar of the church has found himself parading up the aisle with a piece of gum or a bit of sticking paper fastened to his shoe.

The litter upon the streets is the natural result of a busy Saturday night. Any Saturday night town suffers as does Kelowna, and there is little that can be done about it. Except clean the mess up. The Junior Board's difference of opinion with the city council comes when the time for cleaning the litter up is considered. The young business men feel that the main street of the city should not be left in the condition it has been over Sunday, when with less traffic abroad, the litter is particularly noticeable. On the other hand, city fathers have been apparently content to let the papers blow and the banana skins skid the pedestrians until the regular cleaning force has an opportunity of taking care of the situation on Monday.

And so, the Junior Board on Sunday took the matter into its own hands and put a man to work cleaning up the debris. In an hour and a half he worked from Abbott Street to Ellis Street and when he was through there was nothing left except a few straying leaves. Bernard Avenue this week presented an entirely different face to the Sunday travellers. One could walk without skidding; no newspapers wrapped themselves around one's legs; no chocolate bar wrappers clung tenaciously to one's heels.

The Junior Board feels that Sunday's experiment proved that one man working a couple of hours on Sunday morning can make an appreciable difference in the appearance of the street, and hopes that the city may be persuaded to carry on the work and make a thorough job of it. Once again the Junior Board has shown that it is a wide-awake, progressive group with sufficient civic pride and initiative to attempt to get things done for the improvement of the city.

Face and Fill

Someone must be "a voice in the wilderness" warning of dangers. But one who does it is always beheaded before he wins fame.

And now local interest is turning towards the forthcoming public meeting where the city fathers will have the opportunity of giving an account of his stewardship.

While Autumn leaves are turning bright we labor far into the night. Because some fellas realize that now's the time to advertise. If there is something we can do for you, we hope you'll soon give us a call, for we are really rushed this fall. Yes, winter's getting very close . . . it's hard upon our heels; with heavy clothes and running nose . . . you know just how it feels. So heed this call all through the fall, put on a little speed, for Christmas comes and Christmas goes and you'll be sad indeed.

The cement sidewalk recently constructed on Bernard avenue north side costs 28 cents per square foot.

The C.P.R. is expected to build a wharf parallel to the shore next year and will demolish all buildings except the station. One new shed for freight accommodation will be built. Three or four car tracks will be built on the wharf and the boats will land bow on instead of broadside. Freight and passenger steamers will land at different points.

Thanks to the prompt and strict regulations imposed upon Kelowna and district this area can now boast of an early breakdown of the invasion of Spanish flu. Schools are expected to re-open in a few days. Two hundred cases have been reported in the district resulting in the deaths of nine Chinamen and one Hindu.

A grand total of $274,800 was subscribed by the Kelowna district in the Victory Loan campaign, just $74,800 more than the district's quota. This sum was subscribed by 858 persons. A sum of $35,000,000 has been raised in British Columbia, which means the extraordinary figure of $90 per capita. In the Okanagan alone, subscriptions came to $1,300,000.

r.p.m.'s column

APPARENTLY THE few innocent remarks made last week about the reluctance of men to sing in a public place touched upon a number of guilty consciences. It was surprising that the rambling observations that filled this column were noted by such a number of readers. There have been protests from individuals that they did sing; complaints of "how could anyone sing to such music"; and the odd word of commendation. Those who expressed the latter viewpoint found difficulty in their adjectives. For the most part they felt the "terrible", "pitiful", or "disgraceful" that they used was entirely inadequate. Out of it all, however, did come one suggestion. One that seems entirely feasible and sound. It is simply that the Canadian Legion form a men's choir to practice the hymns that are to be sung at the Remembrance Service and that this group lead the singing. The proponent of the suggestion argues that if fifteen or twenty men unite in their singing and know what it is all about, you need not worry about the rest. The male naturally loves to hear his own voice. He also likes to be part of the crowd. If fifteen or twenty men raised their voices the great majority of the rest would join in to hear their own voice and to avoid being conspicuous by not singing. That is this chap's idea. One can hardly disagree. It would appear to be up to the Legion to carry the idea through. One thing is sure . . . if there are many more exhibitions such as that this year, some year later there will be a complete fiasco. As it was, it was only the strong but invisible tie of the individual with the spirit of the occasion which saved the service this year . . .

r p m

THE FUNNIEST sight of the week was Joe Spurrer's face at the board of trade meeting on Friday when a Penticton delegate stated that hunters and fishermen left no money in the country . . .

r p m

YES, THERE IS HUMOR in the news. Take that bit last week when Premier Aberhart was the guest of honor at a newspaper banquet in Edmonton. The Alberta premier and the president of the Canadian daily newspaper association both spoke. Now it is well to know just what Aberhart thinks of the press and it is known that Alberta papers were awarded trophies for the most outstanding service to their communities of all newspapers on the continent . . . and that service was opposing Aberhart. Yet the two returned compliments and felicitations and both speakers emphasized the need for "unity" . . . I will bet that there were a good many fingers crossed and tongues shoved well into cheeks . . .

SHOULD A GIRL WEAR slacks into court? That is the question which has been agitating Los Angeles for the past week. A school teacher appeared in court to testify. She was sentenced to jail for contempt but a higher court ruled that she was within her rights. That is settled but the interesting point to me was that she testified that she had worn slacks and it was a dance frock. It is a little difficult to conceive of a school teacher having only one dress. She must be an unusual personality or there must be a story behind it. If not on dresses, then where does her money go? Some reporter missed a story there . . .

DID YOU SEE "YOU can't take it with you"? If you did you enjoyed it. Not for the lesson it held, I am sure, but for the sheer joy of seeing the members of that family each do just exactly what he wished. You thought the things they did were silly but you enjoyed them because so many of them were exactly the things that you have always wanted to do and lacked the courage to perform. Personally I was disappointed. You see, all my life I have had a yearning to play with the largest and most expensive plate glass window I could find and hurl a rock through it. Not that I wanted to break the window but I have always wondered just what the breaking glass would sound like if I broke the window. All through that picture I was hoping that someone would do just that . . . break a big window. They did just about everything else but no window . . . darn it. But then, not one of those characters did a thing which I considered anyone else. But here I am as usual off on a tangent . . . Think the picture over and if you are honest with yourself, I imagine you will find that the reason you enjoyed it was because that family had such a whale of a good time doing the things which seem silly to the rest of us, things which you would like to do yourself. Would it not be a great old world if each of us did exactly as we wished? Of course the person who does that today is labelled eccentric and is lucky if he is not considered plain crazy. It would be a great deal of fun to go through life as that family did but I am afraid that modern life is too complicated or that few of us have the courage to break through the conventions. I guess we will just have to give vent to our suppressed desires by taking them out in a movie or a blood-curdling best seller . . .

SOME SORT OF A record was set up the other day when a truck driver at Edson, Alberta, tried to beat a freight train to a crossing and struck the sixth wheel . . . that's right, the sixth wheel of the train. The average length of a freight car, they tell me, is forty-two feet. Then this chap lost the race to the crossing, if one takes into consideration space between cars, by just two thousand, eight hundred feet. That is more than half a mile. Wonder how far he was from the crossing when he decided to beat the train? This beating the engine to the crossing can be a serious business and by far the majority of crossing accidents are directly traceable to this source.

WHAT IS THERE ABOUT a fire in the hearth that is so fascinating. Fire itself is one of the most fascinating of all man's servants. Sometimes I think it is a pity that electricity and all these modern conveniences were ever invented. There is not much fun in watching an electric coil. But fire itself is most interesting when it is unconfined. Who does not enjoy a real good fire? The crowds following any fire-truck answers that question! I think that a fire on the hearth comes in the same group as a burning building. There is the snap and crackle of the wood; the pungent smoky smell; the roar of the flames. Then, too, you can watch the wood disappear and there is fun in poking the log to make it burn a little more brightly and in throwing on another log. There is something satisfying about it all. Most people like to watch the flames dance. Is that because they bring memories happy or sad, or is it because they help a person relax in this world of too-little relaxation? One cannot sit and watch the flames curl around a log for many minutes and remain tense and keyed-up. One's thoughts just naturally flow more smoothly and quite unconsciously one begins to see pictures of far-off things in those flames. Funny how the flames become moving images of your thoughts. Maybe it is some longed-for friend, some far-away haunt, some almost forgotten face. Or then, perhaps, they picture the consummation of some plan even then forming in their mind; watch them and they will tell you which road you should travel; which turn you should take . . . There is something soul-satisfying about things in those flames. In it one may see, if he but looks closely, the answer to all his problems and find perfect contentment. Old Omar sang about a loaf of bread, a jug of wine, the wilderness and thou . . . give me a roaring fire, an easy chair, a favorite pipe, a bit of homemade candy and thou beside me, and that is Paradise. I vow! . . . Wonderful things these hearth fire's look! It has filled out this column and now I can enjoy my book, my candy, my pipe, my company, my chair and, oh, yes! an Okanagan apple.

Ten Year's Record of M.S. Holdup Reveals Net Profit of $31,000

George E. Brown Informs Okanagan Boards of Trade of Revenue Derived from Kelowna-Westbank Craft Over Ten Years—Press for Continuation of 11 O'clock Service for Winter Months

FROM the records of the public accounts compiled over ten years the Kelowna-Westbank ferry, commonly known as the M.S. Holdup, a net profit to the government has been compiled of $31,160.19, George E. Brown informed the Okanagan boards of trade at their session at the Royal Anne in Kelowna on Friday night.

Only One Year Loss stated Mr. Brown. "As long as there is a part-time schedule on the Holdup we will never have the movement back and forth in the Okanagan that there should be," he continued. "The correct situation has never been put up to the government in the proper light. It should also be remembered that the fuel costs are practically nothing and that the ferry can make a trip for 17 cents to 25 cents."

As a consequence of Mr. Brown's remarks R. F. Parkinson moved and George S. Sutherland seconded a resolution to ask the provincial government to continue the ferry service from 8 a.m. to 11.10 p.m. during the winter months. This schedule is being tried out temporarily for the month of November.

MAYOR FAVORS SUNDAY CLEANUP

A letter from the junior board of trade to the city council on Monday night pointed out that that organization had on Sunday last employed a man to pick up all the paper on Eberhard avenue. The board had taken this action to ascertain if the debris could be removed from Bernard in a reasonable time on Sunday morning and at a reasonable cost. The letter pointed out that several bags of paper were collected in an hour and a half by one man and that the city's business section, as a result presented a much tidier and more attractive appearance on Sunday.

The board requested the council to consider adopting this Sunday method of cleaning up the business section. His Worship the Mayor expressed himself as being in favor of the idea and turned the matter over to Alderman Gibb, chairman of roads, for his consideration, and, if possible, execution.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

With only 21 school days left until Christmas the students are beginning to realize that Christmas exams aren't far off and we all know what that means.

Our school paper has made its appearance for the first time this year and certainly seems to have been well received by most of the students.

Last Friday the dramatic club enjoyed some skits presented to them by some of their own members. Other school clubs are hoping that before long some of the talent of the dramatic club will be displayed.

The tea which was sponsored by the girls' club for the mothers of high school girls was held Tuesday, Nov. 22, in the Junior High with Miss McCormick as convener. A program which was enjoyed by all was presented by several of the high school girls.

The date for the end of the courtesy campaign has been postponed until Friday, Nov. 25.

Winners for the best poster will be announced the following Monday. A definite improvement in courtesy has been noticed already.

Although the stamp and bottle drives have not been as enthusiastically received as the students' council had hoped, interest seems to be increasing. The students' council has definitely decided to undertake the selling of school Christmas cards.

In closing we might say that at least one person has received a French letter from her pen friends in France. We hope that none will be disappointed after their hours of hard work composing readable French. P.L.W.

In the unavoidable absence of the Scoutmaster the meeting on Friday last was taken by Instructor D. H. Campbell. There was an attendance of 19 scouts, a school dance at Ellison effecting the attendance of some of the leaders. Mr. F. Hawkey was again on hand to instruct the boys in knots and splicing. After the meeting the first game of the Inter-Patrol basketball league was played, the Seals defeating the Beavers.

Arrangements were made to hold a meeting of the court-of-honor at the home of P.L. Basil Bond on Friday evening at 7.30.

A feature of last week's meeting was an interesting report on the recent patrol leaders convention, given by P.L. Bond.

CURRENT PROBLEMS CONSIDERED BY Y.P.S. SPEAKERS

Ernest Burnett and Walter Watson Discuss Current Affairs

Reichsfuehrer Hitler's bluff to wage war recently was a successful ruse to terrorize other countries into acquiescing to his demands, and occurred with blessing of several prominent Britishers, Ernest Burnett quoted a writer as saying when he spoke to the Young People's Society of the United Church, Sunday, November 20.

Hitler had no intention of plunging Germany into war to "save" the Sudeten Germans for his three war chiefs instructed him that the nation wasn't prepared and if he did so they would immediately resign. Hitler knew he would have no chance under such circumstances so he resorted to strategy, it was alleged.

To prevent a war that could be the most horrible, devastating one imaginable several nations believed that giving in to his demands was preferable. If people had known of the war chiefs' threats to resign Hitler might have been balked.

Unfavorable conditions nearer home disturbed Mr. Burnett also. Describing the woman's prison of B.C. as not fit for cattle, he quoted Mrs. Paul Smith, M.L.A., who censured such conditions where women had to live in disgraceful buildings.

Drug addicts in B.C. have doubled. While important problems are neglected or inefficiently attended to, there are inter-provincial bickerings. Much improvement is necessary he contended. A delightful violin selection was played by Miss Katherine Aikman, accompanied by Miss Mabel Swainson at the piano.

Walter Watson spoke briefly on cooperation. It rules the universe, exists between sun and earth. Man cooperates with the earth and natural laws to produce articles he needs. Cooperation is needed among people as in the family, organization, community, country and world to have harmony.

Christ appears to desire it also for the Golden Rule shows it. In the past emphasis has been to produce things; but the problem facing us is to cooperate to find a way to distribute these services and goods equitably.

A pleasing duet "Take Time to be Holy", sung by Ernest Burnett and Cyril Mossop with piano accompaniment by Miss Freda Dilworth concluded the meeting.

Harold Burks was chairman and thanked all those participating.

TED HARDY HEADS KELOWNA YOUTH COUNCIL

New Body Names Officers for Coming Year—Pauling Engel Re-elected Secretary

Executive members of the recently formed Kelowna youth council were chosen Tuesday, November 15, to take office in January while the present ones will continue until that time. Ted Hardy and Miss Pauline Engel were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer respectively. For vice-president George Yochim was chosen. The convener of the program committee will be Ernest Burnett who is to see that committees run smoothly. The convener of a social service committee is Grant Ferguson who will be responsible for having various members investigate some social and economic conditions.

A steady influence was suggested as beneficial for this youth group and in order to achieve this it was considered fitting to have some senior advisers who also could give advice and ideas gained through their past practical experience. Offering themselves in this capacity

Sport Gossip

By J. R. A.

After that opening game against Rossland Royals when the Pheasants were hounded from cover and shot from all angles, the local senior eagles have been wearing worried looks. They need a coach in the worst way, and they need some new blood to bolster their riddled ranks. They thought they had a find in Jim Purvis, brother of the famous "Long John," but they let him slip through their fingers back to the Coast. Jim expects to be back around the first of the year, but that all depends on his success in landing a job. Somehow these positions where the shekels are forthcoming seem terribly important to some chaps. And do you wonder? We all have to cut our hibernation but other players are needed. Jim Tostenson and Roy James two of the ever-protecting spares are believed to be dropping back to the Intermediate A ranks, and further gaps may be observed in the ranks of the seniors, not in healthy condition at all. There seems to be only one solution to the trouble and that is to bring up the most promising of the intermediates. It is a long jump from under 18 ball to senior but there are a few players who are about ready. May I mention Alfie Owen, Bill Ward and possibly Eugene Ryan.

Harry "Pi" Campbell has agreed to take on the coaching job, along with Don Horton as assistant. But Pi agreed only on the proviso that he be given the pick of all the players available. Harold Pettman put up some stout resistance, but he has agreed that it would be to the benefit of the game as a whole if some of his Scouts are moved up. Thus a strong senior team can be built up and the Intermediate A's can join forces and become a stronger unit. The seniors will have a team which would be able to work together for two or three more years without any further added strength and the entire set-up would benefit greatly. However, as I mentioned before, it would be a bitter pill as far as Harold Pettman and his pet Scouts are concerned. Harold has nursed his proteges along for some years, and has trained them along certain set methods of playing. They must have been good methods as the Interior championship has fallen their way for the past two years. I know that Harold has hoped that he could keep them together right to the senior class.

But already the team has begun to disintegrate. Alfie Owen and Irvine Noble have flown the nest and have gone over to the Bankers' side. That leaves but five men of the old squad. Now five men can be good enough in the ordinary course of events to play the entire forty minutes and still come out on top. But there are injuries to be considered, and the four penalty clause in the rule book pops up every so often and players are chased to the showers. No matter how clean a player attempts to be there are nights when he just cannot help breaking the rules and if the referee is ultra strict that evening said player soon finds himself keeping the bench warm and wondering sadly why he was such a bad boy, while his teammates have to struggle along without him. Of course, the referee must be wrong in

ASK EXTENSION OF SEASON FOR SHOOTING DUCKS

Vernon Sportsmen Want Another Two Weeks to Conform with U.S. Extension

Officers of the Vernon and District Fish and Game Protective association on Tuesday evening, November 15, dispatched a telegram to the B. C. Game Commission strongly urging that the open season for ducks and geese throughout the Southern Interior be extended for an additional two weeks from Sunday, November 20, when shooting ended for this year.

This action was taken after a general meeting of the association, in the board of trade room earlier that evening, when a resolution asking extension of the season was passed unanimously.

The motion, proposed by Major Allan Brooks, of Okanagan Landing, and seconded by E. Cliff, pointed out that the great majority of northern ducks have not arrived here, that shooting on the whole has been disappointing, and that a similar extension has been granted to United States sportsmen.

The Game Commission is expected to lay this matter before Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, who may then make representations to Ottawa, where the Migratory Birds Convention Act is administered.

Another important resolution was proposed by Major Brooks and adopted by the meeting, which was the best attended of any held for a considerable period. This asked that the Biennial Conference of North America Migratory Birds officers, to be held probably next February, grant British Columbia a three-months open season for duck and geese shooting; and that the B.C. representative be asked to support the Game Commission's stand on the subject.

In such a case, Doting parents always say so, anyway, and they just cannot believe that little Willie could have committed so many fouls. Why, it is practically unheard of. The referee just had a spite against my little Willie, of course. Sounds rather familiar doesn't it. It does to this inoffensive official, anyway.

It really is too bad that Kelowna cannot be included in this international tour which is operating between Penticton, Summerland, Oliver, Osoyoos, Omak and Okanagan. This is a fine set-up but one of the major difficulties which keeps the Kelowna contingent out of the running is that blasted Holdup. For the Kelowna team to play in the south would mean that an overnight stay would be necessary in every case except, possibly, Summerland. As has been pointed out so many times before in this paper, the M.S. Holdup is the greatest deterrent to inter-Valley communication, friendships and competition that exists today. If there was an all-night service, Kelowna teams could travel anywhere in the southern country and return home the same evening (or probably early the following morning) without undue expense to anybody. However, Hon. John Hart throws up his hands and says there is no money for an additional service and Hon. Frank MacPherson merely grunts a decided negative. So Kelowna will not be able to participate in southern league games, all because of the blasted Hold-up. Bad cess to it.

CANADA'S OUTSTANDING GIRL ATHLETE

At the annual meeting of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, it was announced that Noel MacDonald, 23-year-old centre and captain of Edmonton Grads, perennial world basketball champions, was the 1938 winner of the Velma Springstead Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the Dominion's outstanding feminine athlete. She succeeds Robina Higgins as holder of the trophy that somehow has become known as the Rose Bowl, since it was donated to the W.A.A.F.C. by Alexandrine Gibb of Toronto.

INCREASING ATTENDANCE MARKS PRO-REC CLASSES AT THE JUNIOR HIGH AND KNOX MOUNTAIN PARK

Thirty Members Out at Knox Mountain Show Interest in Boxing and Wrestling—Women's Recreation and Keep-Fit Classes Promote Keen Interest

LAST Thursday marked the opening of the Gyro Knox Mountain Pro-Rec centre with a turn out of nearly thirty members. A great deal of interest is shown in wrestling and boxing, so Wednesday evening has been set aside for the grunt and groan boys. At present, Ralph Sanger, well-known wrestler of Kelowna, and several others are coaching the boys in wrestling. Mr. Lynes who is supervising activities in Kelowna, states that a wrestling ring, high bar, flying rings and baskets for basketball will be set up this week.

Four-Team Cage League

Sufficient interest has been shown in basketball to warrant a four-team league. Games will be played every Monday and Thursday evening at the junior high and Knox Mountain centres respectively. The games will be featured the last half hour of the regular classes. Les McRay, well known gymnast from the famed Kamloops troupe has promised to coach high bar work, which will be a new innovation for the Kelowna centre.

The Kelowna women's recreation classes under the department of education are now well on their way to what they hope will be a very successful season. The attendance at both the recreation and the keep-fit classes has been growing steadily since the opening night earlier in the month. Many new members have joined this year for the first time and are already feeling as confident and at home with the work as members of two or more years' standing.

Slow Gymnastics

At the session held on Tuesday night of this week, the recreation class had their first lesson in the "slow gymnastics" brought back from Denmark this fall by their instructor, Miss Phyllis Sanderson. It was the first time these exercises have been taught out here, thus putting them at least two years ahead of any other gym class. The class is also kept busy twisting and turning their way through their fundamental gymnastics.

After the exercises the class is divided into groups for the apparatus work, thus making it possible for the newest beginner to feel right at home while the more advanced members have a chance to practice some of the more difficult stunts. Leader Joan Blakeborough has been of great help to the centre when the services of instructor Marion Todd are required by the numerous other centres in the Valley.

Tap dancing was taught last week by leader Melba Kennedy who took the department's summer course in Vancouver this year.

The members of the keep-fit class find their sessions not only beneficial, but enjoyable. Their enjoyment is clearly seen on their faces as they go through their various exercises specially adapted to the requirements of the more elderly members, but the high light of the evening arrives when the class swings, hops and leaps to the music of folk dances of all nations.

Appoint Committee

At the close of the session, the class members join in one large circle and sing their newly adopted "theme song" and so ends a thoroughly enjoyable evening for all who were there.

At a meeting held by the members last week, the following committee was formed: Miss J. Blakeborough,

COAST STARS TO PERFORM IN VERNON

Best Skaters on Coast to Feature Vernon Rotary Club's Carnival

"More than fifty thousand dollars experience in putting on a Rotary Club Carnival acquired by members of the Vancouver Club, has been placed at the disposal of the Vernon Rotary Club," was the statement by W. S. Harris, chairman, on return from Vancouver, where for several days last week he was getting information and booking special attractions. Members of the Vancouver Club are coming to assist in staging the event.

Miss Verna Miles Fraser, instructor of the Vancouver skating club is bringing fifteen members of the ballet which has achieved such outstanding success, in addition the famous Bobby Boyle, clown and trick skater. That is, provided that the Los Angeles Club whose scouts are attending the Vancouver Rotary Carnival on December 7 and 8, don't take Boyle south with them as a prize package.

The Rotary Club of Vernon advertised last week in our columns for talent to participate in their monster Carnival on Thursday, December 29.

JUNIOR BOARD SHUTTLE TOURNAMENT

At the badminton hall this evening, the junior board of trade is arranging a badminton tournament among its members. It is anticipated that a big turn-out will be on hand and that the games will be enjoyed by all, even though a number of the members have hardly ever played the game before. Generally, there are two badminton tournaments each season arranged by the organization, under the guidance of the sports committee. Nestor Izowsky is in charge of the affair as chairman of the committee.

president; Miss H. Edwards, secretary; Miss McLaughlin, Mrs. Stibbs and Miss H. Jennings, executive.

The above committee is planning a dance to be held in the near future. The above classes are open to all over the age of sixteen and are held in the gymnasium of the junior high school on Tuesdays and Fridays. The recreation class is held from 7.30 to 8.45 p.m. and is immediately followed by the keep-fit class which continues till 10 p.m.

"PI" CAMPBELL TO COACH PHEASANTS FOR THIS SEASON

Don Horton to Assist in Developing Senior Cage Squad from all Material Available

If the first two defeats suffered by the Kelowna Pheasants did nothing more than to shake the players and supporters out of their lethargy and make them realize that some drastic action had to be taken, then those licks were worth while.

It would appear from reports from the basketball front that that was exactly the result, and at the hoop club executive session on Sunday it was announced that Harry "Pi" Campbell had consented to take over the coaching job with Don Horton as assistant. These two players were members of the squad last year but have both decided to hang up their shoes for the season.

The only stipulation laid down by Pi Campbell before accepting the position was that he be given full authority to pick his senior squad from all the talent available in the city, regardless of age or team. Except for the game last night, there will be no more basketball here until Saturday, December 2, it is expected, and the boys will be given a thorough going over and every chance in the world to make the senior line-up.

Last Saturday's contest with Summerland proved that the intermediates can more than hold their own in senior calibre and that many of them are ready to make the jump to the higher ranks.

Several changes have been made in the executive. Shortly after the annual meeting the executive added Don Fillmore to its ranks and with the removal of popular Russ Scrim to New Westminster, the post of treasurer has been open. Roy Hunt has consented to take over the treasurership, with two assistants, Harry Witt and Willie Arthur. These two men have been added to the executive.

Two teams go back to Summerland tonight to continue their feud, the combined senior team being one and a bolstered school squad for the other.

VERNON'S HOCKEY COACH DISAPPEARS IN JAIL DIRECTION

Vernon J. Bailey to Spend Next Six Months in Jail Instead of Guiding Puck Squad

Any visions Vernon may have had of securing a made-to-order hockey coach from "out of the blue" disappeared this week in the direction of jail, following a session of Magistrate William Morley's police court.

Claiming to be a stand-out coach but lately resigned from guiding the destinies of North Battleford Seniors (dark work of other jealous club officials was responsible, he hinted), Vernon J. Bailey blew into Vernon last week and proceeded to make himself acquainted as Vernon's future hockey manager.

On the strength of his alleged position in this hockey-conscious centre, Bailey is said to have obtained credit at stores and to have stalked around the Civic Arena inspecting the $60,000 "joint".

The windup of Bailey's activities in that city presented a far different picture.

Apprehended by Provincial Constable Edwin Anderson as he was leaving, rather hurriedly, by boxcar, Bailey was charged with theft of a parcel, value under $25.

Before Magistrate Morley, Bailey pleaded guilty to the charge and received the maximum sentence for the offence, six months in jail.

That he had never done anything to be ashamed of when sober, was part of his tale to the court, but when he was drunk—well—that was a different matter, and while under the influence he had lifted the parcel from a local butcher shop.

The past few months have seen Bailey in several brushes with the law. Only recently he was deported into Canada from the neighboring state of Washington after being picked up as a vag. Just prior to his present experience he was released from Oakalla for dealing in forged documents.

SUMMERLAND MERCHANTS PILE UP BIG LEAD IN LAST QUARTER TO DEFEAT COMBINED KELOWNA TEAM

Intermediates Playing with Pheasants Show up Well Even in Face of 36-23 Defeat—Visiting Intermediate B Squad Swamps Kelowna School 41-18

FOR three periods a combined squad of ex-Scouts and last year's Pheasants held the fast-clicking Summerland Merchants within shooting distance, only to fade away in the final canto of Saturday night's classic at the Scout hall and lose out 36-23 in the feature game of the card. In the preliminary fixture a big rangy group of intermediates from Summerland took the measure of a smaller local school team, 41-18.

Scout Players on Team

The Pheasants' second straight loss this season saw quite a mix-up of material on the floor in Kelowna outfits. Half of the Scout team, last year's winners of the Interior Intermediate B title, were commandeered to bolster the senior group, which only had George McKay, Harold Johnston and Harold Pettman of last year's provincial titleholders, left.

And let it be said right here and now, the youngsters played about as smart a brand of basketball against their more experienced Summerland opponents as you would wish to see. Eugene Ryan was a stand-out in the scoring, only Harold Pettman eclipsing his work, while Doug Herbert and Dave Chapman Jr., fitted in like veterans and showed their ability to work against big odds and still come up scrapping.

"Those guys aren't so tough," one of the intermediates was heard to exclaim in the dressing room after the contest, while lanky "Euge" Ryan, "Gee, I was nervous out there, at first."

For the first quarter, Kelowna had Summerland definitely on the run and was in the lead 9-6 when the first ten minutes had subsided. However, Beech, ran through for a couple of field baskets and Thorpe and Thomson cut loose once apiece which more than offset Herbert's two dandy shots, and Summerland was out in front 17-13 at the mid-way mark.

Bennett cut loose a couple of times in the third stanza while McKay and Ryan were the only scorers for the homesters. Gregory came back on the floor in the final quarter and did considerable damage, managing to lead the rally which put the visitors away out in front.

Dangerous on Offensive

Bennett and Gregory were the dangerous lads on the offensive for Merchants while MacDougall was his old, steady self on the rear guard. He downed five free throws without a miss, including the three in succession awarded when the Kelowna cheer section refused to keep quiet during the penalty shooting.

It was a steady procession to the hoop for Mr. Main of the Summerland intermediates for that big lad pushed the round obstacle through the hoop for 23 markers and defeated the Kelowna school squad all by himself. At the half-way mark the visiting youngsters had the game all tucked away with a lead of 25-4 and still outdistanced the locals 35-10 by the three-quarter mark.

The teams lined up as follows: Summerland Int. B—McCutcheon 4, Scrivner 5, Davidson, L. Davidson 6, Main 23, Rumball 3-41.

Kelowna school—Herbert 4, S. Kawahara 2, Pearcey, McLennan 4, Sanger 2, Bedford, Atkinson, M. Kawahara 2, Tree, Whillis 4-18.

Summerland Merchants—MacDougall 5, Beach 7, Thorpe 2, Bennett 10, Thomson 2, Clarke 4, Gregory 6-36.

Kelowna Pheasants—McKay 2, Disney, Johnston, Pettman 8, Ryan 6, Herbert 5, Chapman-23.

Referees: Armstrong and C. Pettman.

PLEBISCITE TALK CONCERNS LIBRARY

VERNON—City Solicitor C. W. Morrow in a letter drew the city council's attention Monday night to the fact that should Vernon wish to withdraw from the Union Library District, it would be necessary to secure a petition signed by at least 10 per cent of the people on the voters' list.

Any move along this line would include the districts served by the extra-municipal school district—that is how I would read the act," he continued. "However, in securing signatures it would be as well to keep the two districts separate. If such a petition can be obtained it would have to be presented to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council and he would direct the taking of a plebiscite thereon."

1 GRAPE AND TOMATO

In any twelve months ending March 31 for a period in excess of the number of weeks shown. It is also provided that in the matter of cabbage, carrots and beets, the number of weeks during which the value so fixed may be maintained in force may be divided into not more than two separate periods, the combined duration of which shall not exceed the total number of weeks shown.

All produce included in this list of fruit and vegetables entering Canada is now exempt from the special three per cent excise tax levied under section 88 of the special war revenue act, as soon as the necessary legislation can be enacted.

One big difficulty with the new dump duty dates fixed, will be that jobbers will know exactly what date the dump duty will be taken off. In the case of pears, the time limit is 15 weeks for application of dump duty. Generally some time elapses after the dump duty goes into effect before the jobber clears his warehouse of the American stocks on hand and turns to the Okanagan for his produce. Now that he can tell the exact date at which the duty must come off, he can store accordingly, it is pointed out.

Fortunately for the Okanagan peach growers there is no change in the dump duty of the past season although the ad valorem duty comes down from 15 per cent to 10 per cent. During the past season, the dump duty period was only from July 29 to September 10, a matter of six weeks, but the new treaty provides for a nine weeks' period, Mr. Lewis states.

Pears, prunes, plums, and green peas and lettuce have a drop from 15 per cent ad valorem to 10 per cent, but no changes in their dump duties.

Onions remain the same for ad valorem duty but drop from 3/5 cents to 1/2 cent in value for invoice. Cucumbers drop from 15 to 10 per cent ad valorem and also decrease from 2 4/5 cents to two cents in dump duty. Apricots are not clear as to time for dump duty but there is a decrease of from 1 3/5 cents to 1 1/2 cents in the dump duty besides the usual drop in ad valorem. Last year the apricot duty went into effect from July 5 to August 16 but the period is not shown by Mr. Lewis.

Tomatoes

Mr. Lewis singles out tomatoes as being hard hit, having suffered a further loss in protection. Under the terms of the old treaty, the item read 15 per cent but not less than 2 cents per pound. Under the new treaty, protection will be granted to the extent of 10 per cent but not less than 1 1/2 cents per pound. This further decrease in protection adds another blow to the already harassed grower of tomatoes who has been having a terrible struggle for some time.

Early potato growers will suffer from the new agreement with the United States but only a few early Ok-

BANKERS' CAGE SQUAD TRIMS PENTICTON FIVE

Travel South and Inflict Severe
46-24 Defeat—Owen and Hand-
len Chief Point-Getters

Badly outclassing the Penticton representatives, Kelowna Bankers, playing their first Intermediate A contest away from home this season, swamped the southerners 46-24 on Saturday night. From the opening whistle there was never any doubt concerning this contest, as the well-fortified Orchard City quintette had things their own way at practically every turn.

Handlen and Owen were the leading scorers for Kelowna, netting sixteen points apiece, with Treadgold and Jim Tostenson doing yeoman work on the defense. Hooper and Colborn were high scorers for Penticton, the latter especially playing a fast, quick-breaking game.

Unfortunately for the Penticton club, Trail seniors failed to put in an appearance for the main contest and disappointed the biggest crowd to be present at the Penticton Scout hall for several seasons. There were more than 550 persons out to witness the contests, and the Penticton school band was given special prominence.

The teams lined up as follows: Penticton Int. A's.—Hooper 8, Toombs, Murray, Roberts, Colborn 7, McQuistin 3, Hayward, Carter, Price, Joyce, Adams 6-24.

Kelowna Bankers.—Handlen 16, Owen 16, Roth 6, Noble, Barnett, Treadgold 6, J. Tostenson 2-46.

Oranges

Changes in the entry dates of oranges will create quite a furore and will provide some heavy competition for the Canadian apples on their own markets, it is feared. From December to April inclusive there is no duty on oranges entering Canada. From May to November inclusive, the duty will be 35 cents per cubic foot. Canada, however, reserves the right to substitute January to July inclusive, duty free.

It was at first thought in the Okanagan that oranges were to have an extra month at either end of the January to April period which applied before, and if six months were provided it would be from February onwards. However, this idea did not prove correct, according to Mr. Lewis' advice and the orange importations seem bound to strike the domestic market at times when the Okanagan shippers are striving to clear the surplus apple crop from the cold storage houses.

BELIEVE MAN LOST HIS LIFE IN WOODS LAKE

A. J. Hobson Missing Since Friday—Police Fail to Recover Body

Despite intensive police patrols of the area, no trace has as yet been found of the body of A. J. Hobson, who is believed to have been drowned in the cold waters of Woods Lake, some 17 miles north of this city, on Friday morning last.

Dragging operations conducted by Sergeant H. K. King, head of the Vernon detachment, provincial police, failed to locate the body, which may be resting more than 100 feet below the surface of the lake. Authorities are of the opinion that the corpse may come to the surface on Sunday, the ninth day after the accident, or possibly later, because of the coldness of the water. A careful search will be instituted.

He left Mrs. W. Petrie's house at the southern end of Woods Lake about 8 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Petrie, who was the last person to see Mr. Hobson, said that the wind was fairly strong at the time but was not thought to be dangerous.

Under ordinary conditions the trip by boat would not have taken more than one hour, but Mr. Hobson was not missed until nearly 11 o'clock.

Frank Allingham noticed an upturned boat and he reported this to the Petrie home.

Sergeant King, of Vernon, and Constable Butler, of Kelowna, arrived before noon and set out in a boat with grappling hooks. A two-day search proved fruitless. The boat, two oars and rudder were found washed ashore.

Mr. Hobson, it was known, had been ill with 'flu shortly before he disappeared. He had lost much weight and was in a weakened physical condition. Had it not been for his loss of strength, it is surmised that he could easily have reached safety he was a magnificent swimmer and a capable sailor and tariff committee, stated on checking over the list provided by Mr. Lewis, that grapes would suffer as strongly as any other commodity but that the soft fruit producers generally would not suffer except for the application of dates for the dump duties.

The periods set forth under the new treaty are the maximum dates, stated F. A. Lewis to The Courier by telephone Wednesday evening. The periods cannot be increased but may be decreased by Ottawa if the stocks on hand in the Okanagan and elsewhere in Canada do not warrant keeping on the protection.

Oranges are expected to crop up at frequent intervals in the next few days and it will be some time before all angles in this new agreement between the neighboring countries are sifted out.

EVAPORATOR MAY RUN MOST OF WINTER

Started Wednesday and Will Operate as Long as Suitable Apples Obtainable

On Wednesday the evaporator plant of Canadian Cannery in this city started operations and will, if suitable apples can be obtained, probably continue to operate the greater part of the winter. Such was the statement made on Wednesday to The Courier by Willis J. West, general manager of Canadian Cannery (Western) Ltd.

While the local plant is the oldest evaporator in B.C., Mr. West pointed out that this year a great deal of modern equipment had been installed, some of it being the only units of their type in the province. The installation of this new machinery has made the plant fully modern in every respect.

The duration of the run of the plant depends upon the procuring of sufficient apples of the desired type. In the opinion of Mr. West, this should be no insurmountable difficulty.

If the plant continues to operate during the greater part of the winter, nearly a score of people will be employed and thus contribute a considerable sum to the city's winter payroll.

The exceptionally fine growing weather on the prairies this year owing to the detriment of the sale of canned goods. Prairie people this year had a great abundance of fruit grown there than is usually the case and there was an exceptionally large quantity of fine wild fruits and berries. The result was that the sale of canned goods until recently has been so poor that something approaching a record has been created.

The dates for the 50th annual convention of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, to be held in Vernon, will be January 24, 25, and 26, "in all probability," according to a statement made this week by A. K. Loyd, President of the Association.

AGED RESIDENT OF EAST KELOWNA DIES

George Phipps Passes at Home of his Daughter at Age of 81

After a residence in the district for the past 16 years, there passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mabel Atkinson, East Kelowna, on Friday, November 18, George Phipps, at the age of 81 years.

Although Mr. Phipps passed away from a lingering illness it was only in the past three weeks that he had suffered to any extent or had been confined to his home. He had lived a full life and had every confidence to the end that he would recover and live for many years more.

Born in Warwickshire, Eng., the late Mr. Phipps moved to Calgary from the Old Country in 1913, and sixteen years ago came to the Kelowna district to live with his daughter.

Four sons and four daughters survive Mr. Phipps, they being W. H. Phipps, in Saskatoon, J. Phipps of East Kelowna, S. Phipps in Calgary, and C. M. Phipps, Ellison, and M. M. Mary Groves and Mrs. Martha Taylor, Calgary; Mrs. Maude Bevens, Seattle; Mrs. Mabel Atkinson, East Kelowna, also one brother, H. Phipps of Coventry, England.

Funeral service was from the Kelowna Furniture Co. parlor on Tuesday afternoon, November 22, at 2 o'clock, with Rev. W. W. McPherson officiating. Interment was in the Kelowna cemetery with Bert Cherry, Ben Johnson, Earl Bush, Roy Bush, Jock Anderson and Len Piddock as pall-bearers.

toria recently regarding improvement of roads in the Nelson district. This delegation met with success and he suggested a delegation from the Okanagan should go to the capital following the Vernon meeting next month. Poor condition of the roads costs the growers ten to fifteen cents per box when their fruit has to be hauled over the roads in trucks, he estimated. It was mentioned that only forty miles of the highway from Vancouver to Osoyoos remains unsurfaced now.

Toll at Spuzzum

The motion was endorsed seeking complete hard surfacing of the Okanagan highway next year and the meeting carried on with another contentious subject introduced in a letter from the Vancouver publicity bureau which sought abolition of the toll at Spuzzum on the Fraser Canyon highway. Eventually the meeting turned down the proposal on the ground that to be consistent boards of trade could not submit requests on one hand for improvement of highways and then turn around and ask that the government delete a revenue of about $36,000 annually.

Chairman Bennett, at the outset, remarked that this toll is antiquated and was all right for the horse and buggy days. Sam Miller and Max dePlyer moved the resolution asking for abolition of the toll on passenger cars only, which amounts to $1 per car. The governments take $100 in taxes before a car is ever placed on the road and deducts another 24 per cent gas tax besides, Mr. Miller explained, in advancing the argument that there is no need for such an exorbitant toll at Spuzzum.

Capt. Combes of Vernon disagreed that the toll keeps away tourists and the government should not be cut away from an annual profit of $36,000, if it is spent on the highways. There are a great many tolls in the state of Washington, he remarked.

R. P. MacLean told of experiences in Quebec where tourists became hostile with the great number of tolls applied. To be consistent the meeting could not turn down such a resolution when there is an exorbitant ferry toll at Kelowna's backyard, he argued.

"Tolls are antiquated and why should we have to pay tolls on the Kelowna ferry or at Spuzzum when they are part of the government highway system," he queried.

Horace Galbraith reminded the audience that the toll at Spuzzum is on the bridge and out of Vancouver and down in the United States bridge tolls are frequent.

"Do you really think a $1 toll really keeps people away?" queried D. C. Paterson, Kelowna. "It is not feasible to ask for road improvements and then take away the government's revenue."

Harry Pout thought that the Holdup toll should be reduced before fighting for the Fraser Canyon toll removal. Fight for the valley first," he challenged.

Charges of class distinction and that trucks should not be so heavily charged as against licences and fees for persons driving cars for pleasure were made by some speakers, including Alderman Bert Gibb, Kelowna.

Not Consistent

Reg. Rutherford did not think the meeting was consistent when it refused to go out of the Valley on the matter of road improvements and then wanted removal of tolls on the Fraser Canyon, and when the motion was put a few seconds later it was lost by a big majority.

Before conclusion of the meeting Alex Tough touched briefly on the Hope-Princeton highway and the drive to be started to raise $60,000 for its completion.

Arthur Basham spoke on the fine work being carried on by the provincial forestry camps and his consequent motion that the camps be extended to more points in the Okanagan was received with favor. S. M. Simpson, Kelowna, pointed out the real need for opening trails into the hills so that preserves of timber could be safeguarded from forest fires.

Horace Galbraith expressed the visitors' appreciation for the courtesy and hospitality of the Kelowna board of trade and Chairman W. A. C. Bennett thanked the visitors for attending in such large numbers.

There were about 85 persons attendant at the meeting with the following visitors: Oliver G. Penttinen, 5, Summerland 4, Westbank 4, Vernon 8, Armstrong 4.

DAVID DUNWOODY IS LAID AT REST IN LOCAL CEMETERY

Well-Known Hardware Man Passes War Injuries

After a lengthy bout with illness caused from the effects of the World War, David Dunwoody, well-known Kelowna man, passed away at the Kelowna General Hospital on Wednesday, November 16, at the age of sixty-two.

Born in Lisburn, County Antrim, Northern Ireland, on June 30, 1876, the late Mr. Dunwoody came to Canada in 1901 and was engaged in the hardware business in Vancouver. He came to Kelowna in 1920 and worked with the Leckie Hardware and for many years with the succeeding business, the Bennett Hardware.

In France he served with the 7th Battalion of the C.E.F., First Division. He was wounded twice but went through the entire war. Deceased was a member of St. George's Masonic lodge, also of the Kelowna branch, Canadian Legion. He was highly esteemed by many friends although his nature was naturally reserved.

He leaves a wife in Kelowna and a brother in Toronto.

Funeral service was held on Saturday afternoon, November 19, from the Kelowna Furniture Co.'s parlour, with Rev. Dr. W. W. McPherson officiating. It was largely attended by members of the Masonic lodge, war veterans and business associates. The casket was draped with the Union Jack. Last rites at the Kelowna Cemetery were conducted by the Canadian Legion, the Last Post being sounded. Many beautiful floral tributes accompanied the remains to the grave.

RESERVE JUDGMENT IN NYCHUCK CASE

Mr. Justice Manson Hears Appeal from Kelowna J. P.'s Decision

At Vernon on Monday in the Supreme Court sitting, Mr. Justice A. M. Manson heard an appeal from a police court judgment by E. M. Carruthers, J.P., of Kelowna against Willis Nychuk, who was accused in Kelowna police court of starting construction of a building on Bernard avenue after a building permit was refused. The appeal was by writ of certiorari and judgment was reserved.

Nychuk was fined $10 and costs in Kelowna by Mr. Carruthers on the first hearing of the case. At Kamloops, Nychuk, through his lawyer H. W. Galbraith of Vernon made an application seeking a writ of mandamus against the city of Kelowna to permit erection of a combination dwelling and store on Bernard Avenue.

In this case Mr. Justice Manson reserved judgment until the next sittings in order to allow him to enquire regarding the proposed Kelowna zoning by-law.

The appeal, which was by way of affidavit only, claimed the justice of the peace did not have jurisdiction and that the building by-law is invalid.

When in Kamloops, Mr. Justice Manson was quoted as saying: "The municipal act should be pegged down with eight-inch spikes for twenty years and left that way."

JOBBER CONVENTION OPENS IN WINNIPEG

Will Come West to B.C. After Three-Day Meet Next January

What promises to be one of the largest conventions likely to be held in Winnipeg next year opens at the Fort Garry Hotel, January 10 next, and continues for three days.

This will be the 14th annual meeting of The Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association, which draws attendance from every Canadian province between the Maritimes and British Columbia as well as from many parts of the United States.

Last year the convention was held in Ottawa. Based upon the agenda brought forward at former conferences, it can be taken for granted that the questions up for discussion will closely concern all branches of the fruit industry and the decisions arrived at during the convention will have a wide bearing upon the trade as a whole.

Immediately following the close of the conference a tour has been arranged through British Columbia and California, returning via New Orleans. The purpose of this is to permit of visiting the great fruit producing sections and also those interested will be able to take in the 50th annual meeting of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association at Vernon.

Following that meeting the itinerary provides for several days being spent in Vancouver. The next morning is Los Angeles, when delegates may attend the United States Fruit and Vegetable Convention, January 24 and 25.

REMAINS OF JACK HERALD WERE IN BURNING EXPRESS

Body of Young Co-Pilot on Ill-Fated Trans-Canada Mail Plane in C.N. Car Destroyed by Fire

When the engine, baggage car and express car of the Canadian National Trans-Canada train ran into a rock-slide two miles east of Hope on Tuesday, November 22, the remains of Jack Herald, former Kelowna lad, who died in the burning wreck of the Trans-Canada Airlines mail plane near Regina last Friday, were in the express car, which was destroyed by fire.

The body was being brought to Vancouver for burial on Wednesday morning. A coal stove, jarred loose by the shock of derailment overturned and started the fire in the express car where Herald's body lay in a steel casket. It is believed that the body was not burned, being saved by the steel encasing.

In the latest edition of the Winnipeg Free Press to reach the Okanagan is a feature article written on the life and history of Jack Herald, youthful co-pilot on the ill-fated Trans-Canada Airlines plane which crashed near Regina on Friday morning killing both Herald and the pilot, Dave Imrie. Herald lived in Kelowna with his parents for about five years from 1920 to 1925 and spent part of his school days in this city. His father died in 1937 and another brother was killed overseas.

Mrs. Herald, his mother, resides in Goderich, Ont. Jack Paterson, feature writer for the Free Press tells of being introduced to Herald by Imrie, who said: "Jack Herald, College boy, artist's model, professional wrestler, self-made pilot."

"Jack Herald's story contained all those elements," continued the newspaper comment. "Born in Cloverdale, B.C., he went later to St. Andrew's college, Toronto, medicine in mind. Athletics claimed him. He rowed with the Argonauts, played rugby, wrestled, and did five-mile cross-country runs. In 1927, the death of his father halted college days. Young Jack worked on a brokerage job to support his mother."

"In 1931 the brokerage folded. He said nothing to his mother, who was in Goderich, about the loss of his job, but worked at anything available. In all, he gave 35 blood transfusions. He took awnings from apartment buildings, modelled shirts, hats and pyjamas for commercial artists, and at last up against it, he approached a well-known wrestling promoter: 'I'll wrestle anyone, anywhere, but not under my own name. My mother mustn't know,' he stated. The promoter arranged that. Immediately before his first bout at Niagara Falls the ex-student saw the billing. 'Say, he said, 'who's the gee called himself 'Trader Horn?' 'That's you,' the promoter beamed. Young Herald mutinied, raved, to no avail. The name was duly registered and as Trader Horn the future air pilot entertained eastern sports fans.

"Meanwhile, fired from reading of Canadian achievement during the war, Jack Herald was calling at the offices of flying concerns. His friends told him he was mad, that flying was overcrowded, hopelessly. Jack appealed to a former teacher, Dr. Bruce MacDonald of St. Andrews. He got a letter to Captain Maxwell of the Ontario provincial air service that would allow him to see through the hanger at Sault Ste. Marie. A job as second cook on a boat got him transportation there, only to find Maxwell absent. For a week Jack Herald slept in the Post office at Sault Ste. Marie, ate what meals he could manage from tug-boat skippers. People said the government service was discharging men. Still he stuck. Maxwell sized him up. 'I've seen you wrestle,' he said. 'Likely looking. I'll give you a chance.'

"On October 1, 1932, Jack Herald entered aviation. His first job was to clean out the hangar furnace. It was weeks before he got near an airplane. Meanwhile, he studied books on aviation, correspondence courses, met some of those over him. On October 1, 1933, six years later, to the day, First Officer Jack Herald left Vancouver as co-pilot on the inaugural eastbound Trans-Canada Airlines mail run.

"Three of those years had been spent in the northern bush country as a mechanic, later as a pilot, studying hard through long nights. Several flying courses followed, ultimate success in his long ambition. "Captain Dave Imrie and First Officer Jack Herald, two young Canadians who started from scratch, who flew Canada's skies, youthful pioneers, who, side by side, ended full lives together there in the night. May their flaming ambition and ultimate triumph so abruptly ended, not fail to inspire today's Canadian youth."

Remains of Jack Herald, Cloverdale-born B.C. youth, were laid at rest in Vancouver on Wednesday.

ments," he said. Mayor O. L. Jones could not say on Wednesday whether or not he would again be in the field. "If the city washes my services, they will be freely given," His Worship told The Courier. "However, if the people wish someone else to fill the mayoral chair, I will gladly withdraw."

As yet there has been but little election talk. Most of the rumors which have been in circulation have centred around the mayoralty. It has been taken as a matter of course that have the right to appeal to the board of appeal.

When Alderman Sutherland explained why he would not support the by-law.

Mayor Jones would again be strongly urged to stand and two other names have also been mentioned. These have been ex-Mayor D. K. Gordon and Alderman Sutherland. Some factions are said to be trying to prevail upon Mr. Gordon to enter the civic arena again and reports are current that Alderman Sutherland will declare himself for the mayoralty.

The terms of three school trustees also expire this year and they must be reelected or replaced on December 15. Mrs. Treadgold, Dave Chapman and George Anderson are the members whose terms expire while S. M. Simpson and W. Shugg have another year yet to serve.

The public meeting this year is being held on Tuesday, December 6th, in the auditorium of the junior high school. One of the principal subjects of discussion will be, doubtless, the bylaw to raise twenty-seven thousand dollars which will be presented to the ratepayers by the schoolboard. The expenditure is said to be necessary to provide additional accommodation for the pupils of Kelowna schools.

law Mayor Jones stated that the council had done its best to produce a fair, equitable and workable bylaw. He fully appreciated that five years could be spent on the bylaw and everyone would not be pleased at that time but, nevertheless, the council had endeavored to cooperate with every objection that had been made and the alderman had been given every opportunity to register his objections but he had never given a simple instance of a clause which he considered weak. He had been very difficult to work with.

It was at this point that Alderman Sutherland stated that in his opinion any man could still build a $750,000 house anywhere in the city. Some discussion ensued but was brought to a close when Alderman Pettigrew explained that there was every protection for property in clause twenty-eight.

The opinion of the majority of the council was expressed by Alderman McKay: "This bylaw is a start in the right direction. It may not be letter-perfect but it will be a start towards improvements. In passing it we have accomplished something. It would be too much to expect everyone to be in complete agreement with any bylaw of this nature. It is too far-reaching. In time it is seen that it can be improved upon, the council in office at that time can change the bylaw." The junior board civic affairs committee had forwarded a letter endorsing the restriction of the business area on Bernard to St. Paul street and a petition sent by some fifty property owners approved of the same step.

GLENMORE PEOPLE SUFFER PAINFUL ACCIDENTS

District Regrets Two Deaths—Socials and Meetings Planned

Mr. H. Edwards of Glenmore district sustained a painful accident on Monday morning. Carrying a pail of water out of the house he slipped and fell, striking the pail which cut a deep gash in his face. Later in the day it became evident that medical help was necessary and that some stitches were required to close the wound.

Another link with the early settlers was broken early Saturday morning with the passing of P. H. Ward. Mr. Ward had been in failing health for several years but suffered a relapse on Friday last and passed away a few hours later in the hospital. He is survived by his wife, and two sons, Jack and Harry, who reside here, and a daughter and two sons in the east. The service was held in the Anglican church on Monday afternoon and was largely attended by friends and neighbors. Messrs. A. Loudon, E. Snowsell, B. Kerr, S. Pearson, J. Cushing and R. E. J. Hunt acted as pallbearers. The heartfelt sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Ward and family in their time of sorrow.

J. Needham died on Sunday evening last after a long illness. He was one of the first settlers here, being a member of the Okanagan Land Co.

Barbara Ritchie had the misfortune to break her wrist recently when she fell with her weight on her hand while playing at school.

A flock of several hundred sheep is pasturing in the various orchards of the district.

The freeze of Monday evening put an end to orchard disking for the year unless the weather man sees fit to give us a warmer spell.

church women's association was held on Wednesday of last week at the home of Mrs. Byrns on the Vernon road. It was decided to hold a basket social at the school house. The program, which is in the hands of Chas. Henderson will commence at eight o'clock. It was also arranged to hold a free Christmas entertainment on the evening of Dec. 21, similar to that last year, in the school. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Pound. There will be a free treat for all children.

After several meetings at the home of Chas. Henderson, a social club has been formed which held its opening meeting on Tuesday last.

November 25, at 7:30 p.m. The main parade of the week will take place at Headquarters on Tuesday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m. Uniforms will not be worn at either of these parades.

The church parade ordered for Sunday, November 27, has been cancelled. However, the Corps will parade to the United church on Sunday, December 18. Will all Cadets please note this change and tell any others who may not see this column.

At the last parade Watches were rearranged and recruits were distributed to their watches. A large number of Tender have been elevated to the Senior Corps so that the ranks in the Corps proper are now considerably swelled.

Another recruit has been signed on.

AMERICAN VETERANS TO VISIT KELOWNA

Six Cars of Canadian and American Legion Men from Wenatchee Expected

Six cars of war veterans from Wenatchee will pay a fraternal visit to the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Legion on Friday and Saturday of this week, the first such visit to be held here in years, states Len Richards, secretary of the local branch.

The Wenatchee party will be comprised mostly of members of the Wenatchee post, Canadian Legion, but representatives from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion post in that city will also be included in the visiting caravan.

WINFIELD ENJOYS FINE CONCERT AND COMEDY

Young Women Stage Performance with Assistance of Kelowna Artists—Building Rink at Community Hall

The Winfield Community enjoyed a very fine concert and dance on Friday evening when the young women's auxiliary put on this feature at the community hall, before a large audience. A group from Kelowna came up and took full charge of the concert part of the program in the following numbers: piano duet by Cyril Mossop and Frieda Dilworth; solo, Mrs. Harold Glenn; solo, Mrs. Cameron Day; reading, Mrs. A. H. DeMara; solo, Audrey Dilworth; solo, Mrs. Cameron Day; solo, Cyril Mossop. Mrs. Leslie Dilworth played as accompanist for Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Day.

Winfield girls put on a play entitled "The Bride" with the following cast: Mother, Marjorie Burns; Bride, Wilma Clement; her sister, one of the bridesmaids, Helen Cook; the maid, Chelan Edwards; Madame Grace, the dress maker, Chiyoko Shishido; the other fellow's mother, Ann Cook. Marjorie Burns as president of the Y.W.A. welcomed those attending and thanked the artists from Kelowna for their kindness in assisting. Mrs. Phillips acted as chairman.

The play itself was an amusing skit with a number of extremely difficult parts handled exceptionally well by the cast. The plot concerned a missing wedding gown and a bride who did not know whether she wanted to marry her rich suitor who was already waiting at the church or a poorer lad. A number of screamingly funny situations played to the limit by the cast kept the house in continual roars of laughter.

After the concert the friends from Kelowna were entertained with refreshments at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. G. R. Trench.

Those attending the United Church on Sunday last had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Geo. Balfour of Kelowna speak on "Faith, prayer and love." Mr. Jas. Hall of Winfield took part in the service at Okanagan Centre.

Mrs. R. P. White, with Mary and Nancy were in Vernon on Saturday last.

Mrs. V. R. McDonagh left for Enderby on Saturday. While away she will visit friends and relatives at Enderby, Grindrod and Mable Lake.

A group of young men have been busy lately preparing a part of the community hall grounds for a skating rink. It is expected to lay the pipe to the hall in the near future.

Miss Pearl Taylor left this week on a visit to her former home on the prairies where she will spend Christmas.

LARGE BOWS AND ARROWS USED BY U.S. SPORTSMEN

Seattle Men Invade Peachland With Robin Hood Weapons But Deer Are Too Scarce Yet

Two sportsmen who have hunted throughout the entire Pacific northwest and even as far north as Alaska were visitors last week to Peachland and guests of the Edgewater Inn there in search of mule deer. These two men, Ralph E. Whaley and Howard A. Dent, of Seattle, Wash., have killed every type of big game animal in the country except mountain sheep, they claim.

But that singular fact is not the most entertaining feature of their hunting expedition. They do not use the modern firearms known to the 1938 hunter. They disdain such civilized methods and prefer to trace their sport back through the centuries and trust to the bow and arrow to fell the elusive quarry.

These two sportsmen obtain a great pleasure out of their hunting trips, as they use these tremendous U-bows, one being 75-pound tension and another 65-pound tension. Some of the bows are made out of white birch similar to the wood which may be obtained in the Peachland area.

These bows are said to be more

RUTLAND SUPPER AND PROGRAM IS WELL RECEIVED

Fine Group of Musicians and Artists Play to Big Group of 300 Persons in Community Hall

The community hall was the scene of another successful community supper on Thursday evening, November 17, nearly three hundred persons being accommodated at the supper, in three sittings. The supper arrangements were in the hands of a capable committee from the Women's Institute, Mrs. S. Dudgeon being the convener.

Following the supper there was an excellent and varied musical program. The first item was an overture by the orchestra, and then community singing followed. Frank Snowsell acting as leader. A tenor solo by Sydney Hubbell, "Daddy Boy," was well received, an encore being insisted upon. Mrs. A. H. DeMara of Kelowna then favored with one of her inimitable recitations, being also obliged to give an encore. Miss Vivian French was the next contributor to the program, singing two charming little songs. Pianoforte duets by Mrs. E. Mugford and James Mugford followed, and were well received by the audience.

J. Cameron Day, next on the program, sang about the "Reason noo he Wore a Kilt," to the great enjoyment of the audience. Tap dancing by Gladys Lehman added a novel touch to the entertainment, for a Rutland concert, at least. George McKenzie made a re-appearance at a Rutland concert after a lapse of several years, and met with an enthusiastic reception. Mr. McKenzie favored with two fine vocal solos. Mrs. D. McDougall contributed a pleasing recitation in a humorous vein, responding to an encore also. The next number was a vocal solo with guitar accompaniment, by Frank Stolz, who sang "My Little Buckaroo" and "Rainbow on the River". Frank Snowsell contributed the final number, singing "Clorinda" and as an encore "Off to Philadelphia".

E. Mugford, president of the Rutland hall society, acted as chairman for the concert. An enjoyable two hours of dancing rounded out a pleasant evening's entertainment, the music being supplied by Kermit and Glorin Eutin and W. G. Webster.

The net proceeds of the affair will contribute substantially to the funds of the hall society.

Supplies of food contributed were so ample that a special children's luncheon was held the next day at noon, at the nominal charge of 15c, and the attendance at this affair must have exceeded one hundred.

Miss Lily Claxton left on Friday last via C.P.R. for Calgary where she will visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sharpe and family left on Saturday for Victoria, with the intention of settling on Vancouver Island. The community regrets the departure of the family from the district, as they have always taken an active part in the various organizations of the district.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sackett and little daughter arrived by car from Cheedle, Alta., on Friday morning, to visit Mrs. Sackett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ford.

The sympathy of the district is extended to F. Hobson, of the Rutland school staff in his recent sad bereavement.

The packing house of McLean and Fitzpatrick Ltd. concluded its season on Friday last, after a run of over three months.

The Ladies Welfare club held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. D. H. Campbell on Tuesday evening of this week. Miss F. McAlmird is the new president and Mrs. L. Wanless is the vice-president and Mrs. W. Webster secretary-treasurer. The club plans a busy season of sewing, etc. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Webster on December 12th.

Mrs. M. Kidd and Mrs. R. B. McLeod were delegates from the Rutland Women's Institute to the Institute convention held in Kelowna last week.

deadly than a rifle and will fire an arrow so that a clean wound is made and the arrow can generally pass right through the object, especially if it is a deer.

Unfortunately for their expedition, the first snowfall had disappeared and the fall was not heavy enough to drive the deer down from their high levels. As a consequence they were unable to bag any of the coveted deer. However, later in the season they will come back to Peachland, they informed Mr. Norse prior to their return to Seattle, and they intend to demonstrate then their prowess with the primitive bow and arrow, a weapon which is coming more and more into use, in the past few years and which is also used as a splendid physical developer and in healthy exercise and innocent competitive sport.

CONGRATULATIONS

FOR the past two weeks in the windows of P. B. Willits & Co., Ltd., there has been arranged an attractive display of products manufactured in the Kelowna district—products galore, many of which the passersby never knew existed in this area. Besides the luscious displays of apples, there were canned goods, winery products, grapes, lumber and subsidiary interests, rubber stamps, fruit labels from the various packing houses, soft drinks and other like materials.

It made a spectacular display and tied in well with the B.C. Products campaign and Okanagan Week drive staged in Kelowna with the cooperation of the retail merchants bureau of the Kelowna board of trade and the B.C. products bureau of the Vancouver board.

Hardly a moment of the day or evening for two weeks went by without this display being witnessed by some spectator, and often big crowds gathered around the brightly-lit window to view at first hand the many products grown or manufactured by Kelowna workmen in the Kelowna district and producing Kelowna payrolls.

Big cards announced to the crowds interesting statistics on the payrolls and shipments from the Okanagan of produce produced here. These figures have been printed on several occasions in The Courier, but can always bear repeating in any display of this nature.

One of the features of this display was the bright colorings of the many attractive labels. The apple box labels, highly colored as they are to attract the attention of the housewives in far off lands, vied with the bright hues of the bottle labels and canned goods wrappers.

As can be seen by the above reproduction of the window, one of the most prominent signs read: "BUY LOCAL PRODUCTS AND WATCH KELOWNA GROW." The slogan for B.C. Products Week was "BUY B.C. PRODUCTS, BUILD B.C. PAYROLLS."

Too few people are familiar with the wide variety of products of their own district. As a result of P. B. Willits & Co.'s enterprise in preparing this window many more people of this district have a better conception of the many products, types and brands of goods produced here and which produce the payrolls of this district. In this effort of cooperation with the "Buy at Home" movement, P. B. Willits & Co., Ltd. have not only made a creditable showing but have rendered a service to the community.

To extend congratulations to P. B. Willits & Co., Ltd., for their initiative and enterprise in the display of local products, the following firms here cooperated to make this congratulatory page possible.

Alderman Archibald Cather

This week, our Spotlight reaches out and settles on one who believes his Christian name—Archibald Cather is known far and wide as Archie, so Archie he will be from now on, as far as this biography is concerned.

It is more than fifty years since Archie Cather opened his eyes in the beautiful farming country of northern Ireland. He is one of those Irishmen who have a great pride of race and was there ever an Irishman without this trait? He was born a son of the soil, as his parents were Irish farmers, his mannerisms and life are typical of the hardy Irish stock from which he sprung.

Archie Cather will tell you quite frankly that his one main ambition through his entire life was to erect big bridges and other heavy construction jobs. From very early manhood he has been employed in the building trade. He knows all manner of building construction jobs and there is hardly a detail in the game with which he is not familiar.

The bigger the construction job the better Archie is pleased, and he has worked on some mighty works in his many years in the Old Country and in Canada. He may be right at home now behind the counters of his "5 to 25" store on Pendero street and he seems to do a comfortable business, but his heart is really in the construction game.

In Mr. Cather's early days he left the farm and took up masonry as his first construction job. The builders of the United Kingdom are all the same, whether they be English, Irish or Scotch. Mr. Cather relates and from all accounts they were a rough and ready crowd. Most plasterers, stone masons, brick layers and such ilk would refuse to start the day's work some forty to fifty years ago in the Old Country without a good, round ration of their favorite beverage, whether it be beer, Scotch or Irish whiskey. As already said, it made no difference what part of the British Isles they came from, they all had the same characteristics to varying degrees. Mr. Cather states, only he believes the English costers were the worst offenders of all, for their entire diet seemed to consist of bread, cheese and beer.

It was at the age of about 20 when Archie Cather left his native land and sailed west for Canada, having served his apprenticeship as a stone mason at a miserly stipend. He came to Toronto in about 1906 or 1907 and for two years was conductor on the street car line. He chuckles even today when he thinks of that occupation and its vagaries.

The next seven years were spent in Ottawa, where Archie Cather was in the building trade as a contractor. Other years were spent in other eastern towns and on the prairies before Mr. Cather decided to make the leap further west and arrived in the Okanagan in 1920. He settled in Kelowna, which has been his home ever since, although a number of the intervening years were spent in other sections of the surrounding country. Nobody needs to tell Archie Cather anything about the famous Hope-Princeton road which the southern residents are endeavoring to finish by dint of a $60,000 subscription. For three years he worked on bridge construction in the Similkameen and built four bridges on the road, for the provincial government. They cost about $5,500 each.

The difference between a lot of the bridge building in this country and in the Old Country is that in Canada they throw up some temporary structure which may last for twenty years, but in the United Kingdom when they build a bridge or any other construction it is meant to be permanent, Mr. Cather states.

Mr. Cather was elected to the city council at the general civic plebiscite last January and since that time he has been in charge of the parks and cemetery. His idea on both these projects is that they are a disgrace to the community. A number of people will not agree that the city park is quite as bad as Mr. Cather makes out, but there is a certain reason to his grumbling.

The park, he contends, is fifty years behind the times. It is not landscaped, planned or organized in the slightest, and there is no proper water system installed. The whole park should be cleared, levelled and landscaped, he believes, and plans laid out for years to come so that future administrations can follow a set idea. Some steps have been made along this line this year, but Mr. Cather is not satisfied with the progress.

The cemetery condition appalls Mr. Cather, who contends that the shale is dusty and loose and unsightly. Oil should be placed on the paths and some money spent in an endeavor to beautify the cemetery, he believes.

There is little opportunity for any one administration to put any wholesale remedy of the situation into effect, as the appropriations are always cut to the limit. Mr. Cather states, but if he is in charge of this department another year then you may be sure that he will be holding out on the other aldermen for an increased appropriation to beautify the city park and the cemetery.

Mr. Cather has never entered fully into the civic and community life of Kelowna and has never been one to join many organizations. He is a member of the Masonic order and Orange lodge, besides his association with the city council.

In Ireland, Archie Cather married Rebecca Jane White and from that marriage four daughters and a son have been reared.

MAKING CANADA A Better Place in Which to Live and Work

A Series of Letters from Distinguished Canadians on Vital Problems
Affecting the Future Welfare of Canada

Specially Written for Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

Dear Sir:

It seems to me that the general need of Canada at the present time is the restoration to the citizenship of Canada of the spirit of independence. In my view there is altogether too great a dependence on government and belief in its ability to make something out of nothing, too great a willingness to profit by the results of repudiation and similar acts, and too great a willingness to contract debts without considering how the debts are to be repaid. If the Weekly Newspapers Association of Canada can do anything to build up the public morale of the electorate, I think it would be doing a work of fundamental importance. Again, if something fundamental is not done with regard to a permanent and sound method of meeting unemployment, we shall be caught unprepared for 1941 or before or after that date just as we were in 1921 and 1931.

There is one subject of secondary importance which demands attention and that is the proper valuation of real property for taxation purposes. In the greater part of Canada assessment is on a totally unscientific basis so that assessment is often extremely inequitable, in that some people and properties pay more than they should and others pay less than they should. This aggravates the effect of the depression and is an important factor in the building up of totals of unpaid taxes. A proper assessment for a municipality is just as important as a proper rate structure for a utility corporation or a proper price structure for a manufacturing corporation. It requires just as much study and special training. If something could be done to improve the quality of assessing in towns, village and township, a great step in advance could have been taken. I do not know of any short cut to the end of moving some of the taxation from real estate but to my mind the best method would be a sharing of the provincial revenues with the municipalities. The present Ontario government has made a start in this direction. I feel confident however, that municipalities can greatly help real estate by cutting down tax levies as a result of reduced expenditures. From the national point of view, this is the only way of reducing the tax burden. Unfortunately municipalities think rather of increased revenues than reduced expenditures or, at least many politicians and city councils take this view. This idea might be among those which can be modified through enlightened public opinion and improved quality of citizenship.

Very sincerely yours,

HORACE L. BRITTAIN,
Director, Citizens' Research Institute of Canada.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FIELD WAREHOUSING

Vernon, B.C., November 21, 1938.
To the Editor,
Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir:
In the Valley papers recently, items have appeared that would indicate that I am supporting the proposed field warehousing proposition and that the Associated Growers would come in under certain conditions.

In any discussions I have had at any time I have made it clear that I was only expressing my personal opinion and that I could not commit the Associated Growers without authority from the Board of Directors. I have also made it clear that in my opinion the only ground on which it might be favorably considered would be that all other interests would be included. Any one hundred percent deal, even with certain undesirable features, is worth favorable consideration. To obtain this, however, I have not been able to see why it should be necessary to introduce an extra link in the present marketing machinery and that if any new policy is decided upon, it should be in the opposite direction.

The first interview I had with Messrs. Kearns and Beatty, I told them frankly that in my opinion they were wasting their time but if they could get the united support of all interests outside of the Associated Growers that there would be a possibility of the Directors of the Associated Growers giving their approval in order to bring about a united deal which, of course, would have to include areas outside the Okanagan such as Kamloops, Keremeos, Grand Forks, Kootenays and Creston.

Yours very truly,

E. J. CHAMBERS,
President,
Associated Growers of B.C. Limited.

CITY OBJECTS TO PAYING RELIEF FOR COAST MAN

Council Feels Family Should Return Here and Work for Relief

The city council on Monday night refused to accept responsibility for a family now living in Vancouver on relief. The question came up when a letter was read from the Vancouver Welfare association stating that the family in question absolutely refused to return to Kelowna.

"Why should we pay any family relief if they want to live in Vancouver?" asked Alderman McKay. "If they want to receive relief, they should return here and work for their relief as the other families here are doing. That is the fair thing and there is nothing sensible about us keeping a family living in Vancouver when we might be getting some return for the money we spend upon the family. If the man can't find a job in Vancouver let him bring his family back here and he will be looked after."

The entire council agreed with these views and the clerk was instructed to write a letter pointing out this stand of the council.

ADVISABILITY OF NEW COMMUNITY HALL CONSIDERED IN EAST KELOWNA

New Trustees Elected — May Change Building Site—To Call Special Meeting

On Monday of last week the annual meeting of the East Kelowna community to discuss matters relative to the administration of the community hall, with an attendance considerably larger than has been customary.

Following the reading of minutes and presentation of a financial report by T. Dyson, hall board secretary, the meeting unanimously elected T. Dyson, H. R. Perry, and G. D. Fitz-Gerald to replace the three members on the board whose term expired this year. The meeting resolved itself into a discussion of ways and means of improvement of the hall, with the almost unanimous conclusion that little satisfactory progress would be made by additions or alterations to the building. An alternative solution was presented, which called for the wrecking of the present hall, and rebuilding on the site offered by Mr. Dodd adjacent to the church for that purpose. That the entire meeting was given over to a discussion of the project was evidence that the meeting was well aware of the size of the undertaking. It was felt that the meeting was not sufficiently representative of the community to come to a definite conclusion, so the incoming board of trustees was instructed to conduct a canvass of the entire community as early as possible, to ascertain general opinion, and later to call a special meeting at which all views and comments could publicly be made.

At a special meeting of the Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. H. W. Daniel on Wednesday of last week, final arrangements were made for the community turkey supper for which tentative plans had previously been made. A definite date was set, and if the success which had accompanied the sale of tickets up to this time can be construed as a true measure of popularity, the ladies have made no mistake in their selection of a medium for adding to their funds.

Bride Honored

A large and representative group of East Kelowna ladies gathered at the community hall to honor Mrs. E. Mufford, a long-time resident of this locality whose marriage took place recently. The wide range of popularity Mrs. Mufford enjoyed as Miss Kathleen Blackburn was evidenced by the large number of attractive and useful gifts with which those present chose to express their best wishes for her happiness and prosperity in her new state. The serving of refreshments was supervised by Mesdames H. Jones-Evans and F. Hawkey, and Misses L. Marshall, B. Marshall, G. Porter and E. Hinks.

Hunting parties are the order of the day, with several groups of hunters being at present in the hills. One party consisting of C. Pook, A. Stewart, W. Hope, J. Parkes and F. Turton are working around Trepanier, while A. Ward, who returned on Monday, leaving four other members of a party near Carmi, reported that success was attending their efforts in that locality.

Badminton

The local badminton club opened its season of play this week. Faced with the loss of several of its past members, it is expected to be organized with a smaller playing group than has been usual. This is not considered a serious detriment by continuing players, however, for with but one court available, the large membership of recent years has seriously curtailed the number of games available for each member on an evening of play. Continuing members are therefore looking forward to increased opportunities for play, and it is confidently expected that the local organization will continue to give a good account of itself in inter-club match play.

Mr. Donald Miller and family are occupying the home of Mrs. Shaw, who, as usual, will spend the winter months in Kelowna.

Miss Jean Taylor left on Wednesday last for Winnipeg where she will reside until next spring.

Miss Rose Fairweather is visiting relatives in Calgary.

Mr. Leslie Evans left on Sunday morning, accompanied by Mr. J. Evans and Mr. F. Seaton for Vancouver by car. Leslie will sail on the "Aorangi" for New Zealand, where he will join his brother Ronald, who has lived there for the past two years. Leslie, who has taken a considerable part in community affairs, will be missed in East Kelowna, and bears with him the sincere wishes of the entire district for success in his venture.

Mrs. G. D. Fitz-Gerald accompanied her father, Mr. J. Reekie to Vancouver by train last Tuesday. She plans a holiday of two weeks at the coast city.

Miss Nellie Ashworth is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Porter.

Mr. John Paterson returned to his home in East Kelowna from Vancouver last Thursday. John completed a course in Diesel engineering last year and found some valuable experience in a coast salmon cannery this fall. The close of the fishing season sees his return home, where many circles will welcome his appearance.

Miss Kathleen Kennedy has returned to East Kelowna as a visitor as she spends a week as the guest of Mrs. R. Smith.

Mr. Horace Hewlett was forced by illness to go to Kamloops recently. Word has been received that an operation performed on Saturday was passed quite successfully by Mr. Hewlett, and his many friends in this locality look forward with confidence to his return to good health.

LICENCE TANGLE LEADS COUNCIL TO DEBATE

Mayor and Alderman Sutherland Disagree About Employee's Duties

The desire to be fair led the city council into a brief but sharp debate on Monday night. The question arose when Pantan & Runcie, blacksmiths, requested, as that the same firm under the name of Dunn & Runcie had already paid a trade licence, that the licence requested from Pantan & Runcie be waived.

It was explained that Mr. Pantan had replaced Mr. Dunn in the partnership and, although technically this called for a new trade licence, it was obviously unfair to force the same firm to pay a licence twice. All the aldermen were in agreement on this point but it was pointed out that the city regulations were clear upon the point. As this was an unusual case it was suggested that the city solicitor be asked to find a way out.

"This is one instance where a city employee has not used common sense," Alderman Sutherland opined. "He should have ignored this altogether." "No, he should not have," retorted the Mayor. "He has a job to do and it is up to him to do it. We can't allow the licence inspector to use his own judgment on these matters. If we did the inspector and the council would be in continual hot water. It would be unfair to place such a responsibility on any city employee."

"This thing should be threshed out in committee," Alderman Sutherland stated.

"I agree," retorted His Worship, "but it was you who objected to work in committee of this nature. At that time you felt it should be public."

The question was referred to the city solicitor.

COQUIHALLA SLIDE CAUSES MAIL CHANGES

City and Rural Mails Affected for rest of Winter—Use Spences Bridge Route

Due to an unusually early slide in the Coquihalla mail reaching this city from the coast will hereafter until next spring be delayed by some two hours. A serious slide blocked the pass on Monday and, due to all trains being routed by Spences Bridge, the mail did not reach this city on Tuesday until nearly noon. The Kettle Valley railway has decided that it will not open the pass this fall but route all trains via Spences Bridge until the break-up next spring.

This means that the city has had to be a drastic reorganization of the local mail handling. Mail will not be available in the Kelowna city post-office now until about one-thirty. Persons who have been in the habit of collecting their mail before noon must adjust themselves to the delay.

Rural routes also will be affected. Route One and the Rutland mail will each leave Kelowna post-office at nine-thirty each morning. This means that they will not carry the morning mail from the coast. Route Two will leave Kelowna at one-thirty while the Mission and East Kelowna mails will leave the local office at two in the afternoon.

MISSION MAY GO PRO-REC

The committee of the community hall association have recently taken up the subject of the provincial recreation scheme, with J. A. Lynes, who stated that it might be possible to include the Mission by a re-casting of district schedules if an application is approved. About 35 people have expressed their interest in the scheme, and it is being suggested that they should form an athletic club to take care of the expenses involved, including transportation of the necessary equipment as the association is not in a position to finance such a project.

Although tenders for the janitorship of the hall have been called, the committee have finally decided to dispense with such service for the present season; the badminton club, as chief users of the hall at present, had already undertaken to keep the hall cleaned up after use, and the committee wish to reduce the debt before they increase current expenses.

Congratulations to Mrs. Miller, mother of Mrs. T. Apsey, who celebrated her ninety-second birthday on Sunday.

The snow, which seems to have been heavier in the Mission than in other districts, cleared off in time to allow two days of pleasant shooting on the flat before the season closed. Several hunters managed to secure a buck last week, now that the deer are coming down. Fishing continues to be quite fair. Buster Morison taking a fifteen-pounder last Sunday. An offer appears to be the favored bait just now.

Sunday school pupils are looking forward to the party given for them at the Bellevue hotel next Saturday afternoon, November 26th.

A Change to "FLANNINS"

Mr. Picobac, keen observer of men and things, was surprised to find two suits of woollen underwear hanging on a line behind the kitchen stove. "Why, bless my soul," said he, "is it winter again already?"

"Time to change into flannins", pronounced Mrs. Picobac firmly.

Filling his pipe from a handy seal-tight pouch, Mr. Picobac gave his attention to a calendar on the kitchen wall.

"Well", said he with great satisfaction, "things are looking up. We've a good harvest, the root cellar and larder are full, there's plenty of wood and coal . . . and enough Picobac for a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke between whiles." He struck a match. "What more could a man want?"

"Flannin underwear", said Mrs. Picobac.

Scout Commissioner's Corner

We deeply regret having had to say goodbye last week to three of our brother scouts from this district. Fortunately, two of them, Maurice Soames from the 1st Rutland troop and Leslie Evans from the 1st East Kelowna troop, we may have the pleasure of meeting again. They have gone to New Zealand and will be sailing on the same ship. They were both very valued members of their troops and will be much missed. We wish them the best of luck in their new homes and are glad to know that they will still be under the Union Jack, although a long way off. Distances now, however, are not what they used to be, so we can reasonably look forward to meeting them again.

Jack Herald, a former scout of the 1st Kelowna has gone on a longer journey as he has so early in his promising young life been "Promoted to Higher Service". He left here several years ago but he always kept in touch with me and I have had several very fine letters from him. His dad once told me when I was Jack's scoutmaster that he used to go and sit on the side of Jack's bed when he went in to say good-night after Jack had come in from his scout meeting or wherever he had been, and Jack always used to tell him what he had been doing and what he thought about it all, and about the various people he had been with. I think scout and cubmasters, school teachers and other leaders in charge of boys would be surprised if they knew just exactly what thirty or forty keen pairs of shining eyes had managed to observe in an hour or so. Jack was full of enthusiasm for whatever he undertook and I am quite sure that the Flying Service of Canada has lost a most valuable officer. I know that we have lost a splendid Canadian and I shall always be happy that for a few short years I had the privilege of being his scoutmaster. To Mrs. Herald, his mother, our hearts go out in the very deepest sympathy, although we also do know that with Jack "there is here no cause for sorrow."

KELOWNA TRAILS VALLEY CITIES' LIQUOR SALES

Amount Spent Here Far Exceeded by Penticton and Vernon

One instance in which Kelowna does not mind trailing the other two cities in the Okanagan occurs in the seventeenth annual report of the B.C. liquor control board which has just been released. The report shows that while $134,488 was spent in this city's government liquor store during the fiscal year, ending March 31st last, that amount was considerably short of the amounts spent in Penticton and Vernon. The Penticton figure was $137,129 while that of Vernon was $191,529.

The Vernon store and the Kelowna store furnish the whole of the ridings of North and South Okanagan respectively but other liquor stores must be added to that of Penticton to obtain the total for Similkameen. Penticton figures were $16,930; Oliver, $36,377; Keremeos, $15,488.

Though the North Okanagan's volume of sales was large, its record of prosecutions, under administration of the "Government Liquor Act," was better than that in other areas.

There were only 15 such cases all told in Vernon, the records show, as compared with 65 in Penticton and 24 in Kelowna.

Total of fines in North Okanagan was $400; while it was $475 in South Okanagan; and $1,375 in Similkameen.

Younger, divisional superintendent at Nelson is promoted to Penticton. G. B. Alexander, division engineer at Revelstoke, will become division engineer at Nelson while G. W. Miller, roadmaster at Grand Forks will become division engineer at Revelstoke.

Okanagan; and $1,375 in Similkameen. In North Okanagan, besides the liquor store in Vernon, there are four beer parlors and two clubs, and Armstrong and Enderby each has both a beer parlor and club. Kelowna has two clubs but no beer parlors, in fact there are no beer parlors in all of South Okanagan. There is a veterans' club in Penticton, and elsewhere in the riding there are five beer parlors and a club.

WARNING TO HUNTERS & FISHERMEN

Each hunting season, through the careless handling of firearms, a number of people are seriously or fatally injured. The law protecting females of big game has been and is still in effect not only for the purpose of conservation, but also in order to prevent shooting at objects which the hunter does not clearly see. Unfortunately this has greatly reduced these unfortunate accidents although each year one or two hunters, generally, through carelessness, are shot in mistake for Deer.

Hunters and fishermen have also been warned to be careful in setting fires, and to see that they are put out when breaking up camp, but notwithstanding this fact, a number of forest fires have been attributed to the carelessness of fishermen and hunters.

If sportsmen desire to have hunting and fishing, then every precaution should be taken to see that firearms are handled in a proper and careful manner, and that any camp-fires are extinguished.

FIRST WEDDING IN EAST KELOWNA ANGELICAN CHURCH

May Kathleen Blackburn Becomes Bride of Ernest Mugford at Pretty Ceremony

The first wedding to take place in St. Mary's church, East Kelowna, was solemnized at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, Nov. 15, when Mary Kathleen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Blackburn, of East Kelowna, was united in marriage with Mr. Ernest Mugford, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Mugford of Rutland, with Rev. C. E. Davis performing the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a frock of cinnamon brown crepe, with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

As bridesmaid, Miss Eileen Hinch chose a dress of brown velvet, with trimmings of cream lace, and brown velvet hat. Her bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums.

The groom was supported by Mr. J. Blackburn, brother of the bride, while Mrs. E. Mugford was organist. Following the ceremony, tea was served to relatives and intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents.

For her honeymoon to Kamloops the bride donned a brown ensemble with matching accessories.

FORMER STAR ATHLETE DIES AT GLENMORA

Philip Henry Ward Played and Coached Sherbrooke, Quebec, Teams for Many Years

Life of an old-time pioneer of Canada and a former well-known eastern Canadian athlete came to an end on Saturday morning in Glenora at the family home, with the demise of Philip Henry Ward, aged 76, a native of London, England.

The late Mr. Ward, although born in the Old Country came to this country at the early age of seven years, and with his parents settled in Sherbrooke, Que. There he resided for most of his life, until 1920, when he came west to Glenora to live with his son, Jack Ward, well-known Union Oil agent in Kelowna.

Ill health had taken their toll of Mr. Ward for the past number of months and death was not unexpected. In his younger days and even into his middle age, the late Mr. Ward took a keen interest in athletics of all kinds, but especially hockey and lacrosse. He played for the representative Sherbrooke hockey and lacrosse teams for years and when he became too advanced in years to actively participate he turned his attention to coaching and directing the teams. He was by trade in the heating and plumbing business in that Quebec city.

Deceased was a great athlete and will be long remembered in the east by those who benefitted by his training and coaching of the many fine teams turned out by Sherbrooke.

His only lodge or club to which he belonged was the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Besides his wife, who lives with her two sons in Glenora, he leaves four sons and a daughter, Harry and Jack in Kelowna, Charles in Detroit and William in Sherbrooke, and Mrs. T. J. Griffin in Springfield, Mass. One sister, Mrs. Clara Varney of Sherbrooke survives.

SOCIAL CREDIT EXPLAINED TO ROTARY CLUB

Cameron Day Explains National Dividend and National Discount

Social Credit was the theme of the talk given by Cameron Day to the local Rotary club on Tuesday. Malicious distribution is the trouble with our economic system, the speaker declared and Social Credit offers the most logical solution he has yet seen.

Using copious illustrations Mr. Day explained the theory of Social Credit as advocated by Douglas. While the popular conception of the national dividend is that every person would obtain something for nothing, this is erroneous as the national dividend would be exactly the same as the dividend from any large company, excepting in this case the people would be shareholders in "Canada Limited".

The idea of the national discount is to equalize consumption and production as production is of no value unless it is entirely consumed. The fault in the economic system has been aggravated during recent years by the greater use of machinery which in the final analysis produces but does not consume.

plained that from a purely advertising standpoint Mr. Craig's suggestion would no doubt be quite wonderful. He pointed to the efforts of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail association over the past 15 years to obtain better roads and bring tourists to the Okanagan.

Mr. Craig had told Mr. Pout that this year 4,381 cars entered the port at Osoyoos and 2,500 of these had gone to Beaver Lake near Kelowna.

"We want to bring all the sportsmen we can to the Okanagan but we also want the tourists in their thousands for the scenic possibilities of the valley. I feel it would be very unwise to spend money to send a queen to the Fair next year."

On behalf of the Penticton board, Harry Black considered the monetary consideration involved too great for the benefit to be accrued. "To bring tourists over these roads would kill any advertising advantage gained," he believed.

"Our highways do not warrant any great amount of money spent in advertising," remarked R. W. Smith, Oliver. "You often hear the tourists remark: 'As much as we admire your country we will not drive over your roads.'"

Mr. Lefroy of Armstrong echoed the Penticton, Vernon and Oliver opinions and remarked that persons could buy scenery at theatres rather than suffer the B.C. roads.

Charles Butt of Westbank had heard the Americans damning the roads many times and fell in line with the other views expressed.

Up to Government

In summing up, R. G. Rutherford, Kelowna board's publicity chairman, stated he was heartily in accord with the views expressed. "If the government is really in the tourist business then it is up to that government to put on the show at San Francisco and not come to the communities for help."

Mr. Rutherford's resolution that the Okanagan boards be not in favor of the idea was seconded by Capt. Coombes of Vernon and carried.

Chairman W. A. C. Bennett expressed appreciation of the good publicity work Joe Spurrier is doing for the Okanagan and stated that Mr. Pout's remarks regarding the number of tourists visiting Beaver Lake is a criticism of the effect of Mr. Spurrier's efforts.

Mr. Pout remarked that the government should not be placed at fault concerning this queen plan as it was entirely Mr. Craig's plan and he did not think the government had had anything to do with it. In this Chair Bennett concurred as Mr. Craig had admitted to the Kelowna board that the government had had nothing to do with the plan.

Just before conclusion of the topic Mr. Spurrier asked the visiting delegates not to think that Kelowna is obtaining all the benefit from visiting sportsmen, as far as he is concerned he sends them as far north as possible. There isn't enough accommodation in the Valley to take care of all the visitors' needs, he stated.

GAS DEALERS ASK FOR EARLY CLOSING BYLAW

Request Drastic Restrictions in Hours for Selling Gasoline — Check Percentage of Retailers Making Request

The hours which gas stations and garages may be open will probably be restricted by a bylaw passed at the next meeting of the city council. This action will be taken by the city in response to a petition presented on Monday night from seventy-five per cent of the sellers of gasoline in this city.

A definite check of the gasoline licence holders will be made and if seventy-five per cent of them signed the petition the bylaw will be enacted.

The petition requests that a bylaw be enforced to restrict the sale of gasoline and the opening of garages. The hours suggested prohibit the sale of gas between the hours of eight p.m. and six a.m. every week day excluding Saturdays and legal holidays excepting from Nov. 16th to Feb. 28th inclusive. On Sundays and holidays the hours for closing suggested are from six p.m. to six a.m. while on Saturday the hours suggested are from ten p.m. to six a.m.

Week day closing during the period from November 16th to the end of February is suggested as being from six p.m. to six a.m.

The bylaw when passed will provide for a fine of $100.00 or thirty days in jail for any infraction but the selling of gasoline to any motorist who has less than two gallons of gas in his tank will not be considered an infraction.

It is anticipated that the bylaw will be passed at the end meeting of the council which is on Wednesday night next.

SMALL PARTY WORKS ON NARAMATA ROAD AFTER SNOWFALL

Group Furthers Investigation on Section at South End of Canyon—Find Feasible Routes

The light fall of snow interrupted work on the Naramata road which, however, was resumed on November 20 when fifteen turned out and pushed ahead along the rocky side hill towards Horse creek. Rather less than a quarter of a mile remains before the road runs into the gravel, after which the going will be much easier for between five and six miles. The small crews this fall have made this piece of work rather slow and the expectation of reaching the Canyon this fall will not be realized. However, it is a great relief to be so near the end of the rock work and there is no question a good many miles of road will be opened up next year.

The previous week a party consisting of Mr. Groves, Percy Harding, Roy Hunt and some others went as far as the canyon to look over the layout. They report that the canyon floor, where the slough is situated, is quite a bit higher than the surrounding country. The slough is held in by a dam made either by beavers or for water conservation. They believe it will be possible without difficulty to at least partly drain the slough and it may be possible to drain it completely. Either way, it will greatly assist in the construction of the road into the canyon. The ground between Horse creek and the canyon has been pretty thoroughly covered and it is considered this section of the road will present little difficulty and all rock will be avoided. Existing logging roads will be utilized for over a mile.

The tools have all been brought back from the road and during the winter they will be sharpened, re-handled and put into shape for next year. The shovels have suffered severely from the rock work and donations of new ones would be welcomed.

While the actual distance travelled this year has not been much over a mile it has comprised quite the most difficult part of the work. It is not anticipated that any part of what remains to be done will present such obstacles.

The rumor persists that the section between the end of the canyon and Paradise ranch is quite an impossible undertaking. This is by no means the case, Mr. Craig states. Information has gradually been collected in the light of the expedition made last July and it can be confidently stated that there are two routes to Paradise ranch both of which are capable of construction by the volunteers.

Originally, it was intended to follow the higher route which reaches about the 2,500 foot level and this has been marked and blazed for some time. This fall, however, information has come in which indicates the lower level, rising not more than 1,300 feet may prove much easier as well as being the more suitable route.

It seems there is a logging road for over a mile and a half at about the 1,800 foot level and that this obviates one of the most difficult sections. Otto Sandberg will build the road, says it can be connected up from both ends without any great difficulty. It is a new road and in fine condition. There are other logging road parts of which may also be available. This plan follows the route recommended by Frank Buckland but avoids its most difficult section.

ELEVEN CARS OF RELIEF APPLES COMPRISE GIFT

Only eleven cars of relief apples have been forwarded to the depressed prairie regions as a gift from the growers, it is reported by A. K. Loyd, B.C.F.G.A. president. Rumors as to faulty practice in distribution have been carefully followed up and investigated. Most such rumors, says Mr. Loyd, have proven false.

5 24-HOUR SERVICE

doubted if much more business could be lost than is occurring now. "The Americans are ready and are only waiting for the Canadians to act," declared J. A. Stuart, Oliver, in moving that the boards of trade go on record as favoring a 24-hour service at Osoyoos. R. F. Parkinson, Kelowna, seconded the move, which was endorsed.

Penticton board had turned down the proposal, believing that the U.S. spokesmen were only anxious to have the 24-hour service when the Alaska highway is put through, Mr. Tough states. And that will not come about for some time yet. It was then he injected his remarks about the small amount of money spent in the Valley by U.S. fishermen.

Sam Miller, Kelowna, was the first to object and allowed Joe Spurrier to simmer a bit before getting to his feet to reply. Ninety per cent of the visiting fishermen go to Beaver or Mabel lakes or go to the Cariboo, Mr. Spurrier explained. Hunters in the Cariboo now come across the line to Vancouver and up the Fraser Canyon because of the 11 o'clock closing at Osoyoos. He felt that the boards of trade should support the Oliver request to the fullest possible extent. He had been surprised to see so many Americans in the Cariboo on his recent trip there.

Capt. Coombes, Vernon, said the only reason Vernon was holding back on the Oliver proposition was to ascertain if the Americans were ready to act as well.

Kelowna "Put to Bed"

Jim Browne, Kelowna, suggested that most of the money derived from the tourists would be spent in Penticton because Kelowna is put to bed so early with the closing down of the M.S. Holdup.

Mr. Berryman, Oliver, remarked that action must be taken quickly as the United States senator from the Oroville section is waiting in Washington to put through the measure at this session of Congress.

Alex Steven, Summerland, expressed a popular thought that an all-night ferry service would be the next step following 24-hour service at the border.

J. W. Hughes, Kelowna, thought that there would be a better chance of obtaining a change if a six months' service of 24 hours each day were sought, but the consensus of opinion was that if a year was asked, the government would probably grant nine months.

Without further discussion the boards of trade passed the resolution endorsing Oliver's request.

In this instance, however, the competitive element will be present in that the school youngsters will be pitted against businessmen.

Why Wonder?

A Man Wants What a Man Wants

No doubt you've found him your one big problem on your list of "What to give for Christmas." That's because you've been thinking in terms of fineries instead of facts.

In reality it's easier to choose for him than anyone else because his ideas are so definitely practical.

We know his tastes and his tendencies and to please him, as well as to help you, we have compiled this timely list of suggestions.

MOTORING NEEDS

Bright plaid, woolen blankets and a pair of fleece lined, leather faced gloves is the ideal gift for the motoring enthusiast.

FORSYTH SHIRTS AND PYJAMAS—Men like to know and feel that their wearing apparel has the mark of quality which assures correct style for all occasions. Forsyth Shirts and Pyjamas which are designed to give that indescribable something in style, have a premier place with men. Give him a gift that he knows is the peer of men's wear.

ROBES

'At ease!' is the command as a man slips into one of these comfortable, friendly dressing robes. Soft in texture and warm in color tone they make a welcome addition to any man's wardrobe. We're showing some mighty fine ones.

SWEATER COAT

These wool knit jackets are just the thing for chilly days. They come in several shades of tan and grey and in a wide range of reasonable prices.
